

Flat Stanley Saves His Family

by Benson

One fine morning Flat Stanley had a delicious breakfast of oatmeal and orange juice.
Then he watched some TV. He was watching his favorite show, "Sponge Bob."

All of a sudden, a fast flying pyteradyl smashed through the living room window and grabbed Mr. Lambchop, Mrs. Lambchop, and Arthur. He swooped them away to Washington.

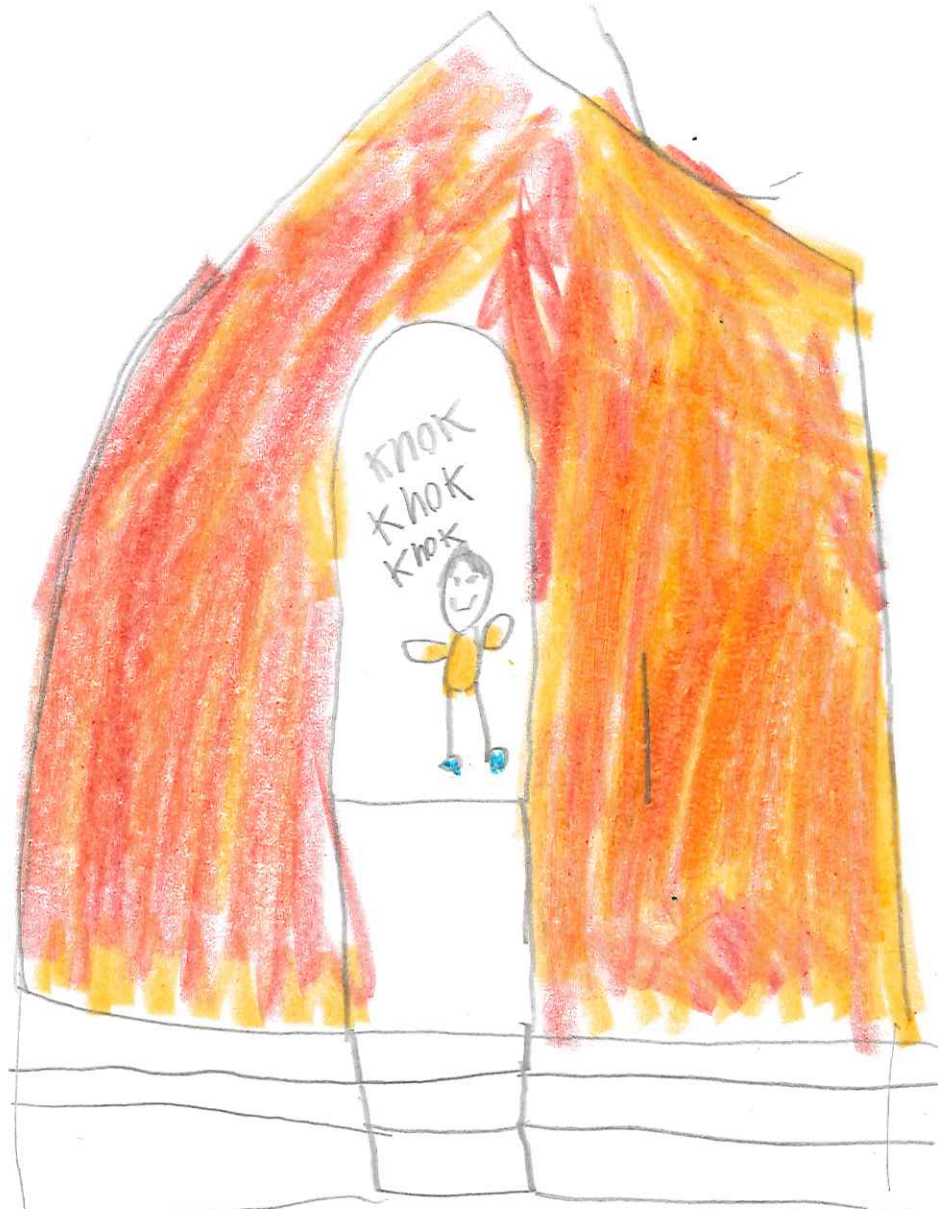

Flat Stanley had to get them. He had to rescue his family. So, he disguised himself to look like a bear. He got into the car; even though he didn't have a license, he drove to find them. He only drove three minutes before he received a ticket. He said, "My parents will pay!"
He told the policeman that a pyteradyl had kidnapped his family and he was trying to save them.

Flat Stanley drove to the airport. Then he got on a plane. He wanted to fly first class.
It cost him a million dollars. He received everything that he wanted in first class.
He was the only person flying in first class.

He flew for one hour, then he left the plane and drove the car.
He didn't know where the pyteradyl was. He drove 50 more minutes and got 50 more tickets.

Finally, he went to a house and knocked on the door. He found an old man inside. His name was Bob.
Flat Stanley said, "Hi! My name is Stanley." Bob said, "My great great grandson is also flat."

Bob said, "Come in." When he went into Bob's house, Bob turned into a pyteradyl. Bob said, "I am not Bob. My name is Bobataurus. Just as soon as I find them I will eat your family. I dropped them in a house that has a boy and his name is Hunter. Wa ha ha!"

Stanley ran out and got into his car and Bobasaurs flew as fast as he could. Stanley followed Bobataurus. Stanley found the house and his family. They were safe and they all went home.
