

Jake and Honge
in the Magical
Rocket Ship

By Evan :

we're almost to the Moon

In Boise, Idaho

A boy and his imaginary friend were playing pass in their backyard.

The boy was named Jake, and his imaginary friend was named Honge. They went together everywhere. One day they went to the museum and found a rocket ship. Then, they went inside!

As they walked in, Jake said I love being in a rocket ship, but I also wish we could go to the moon. Then, they were going 100 miles per hour

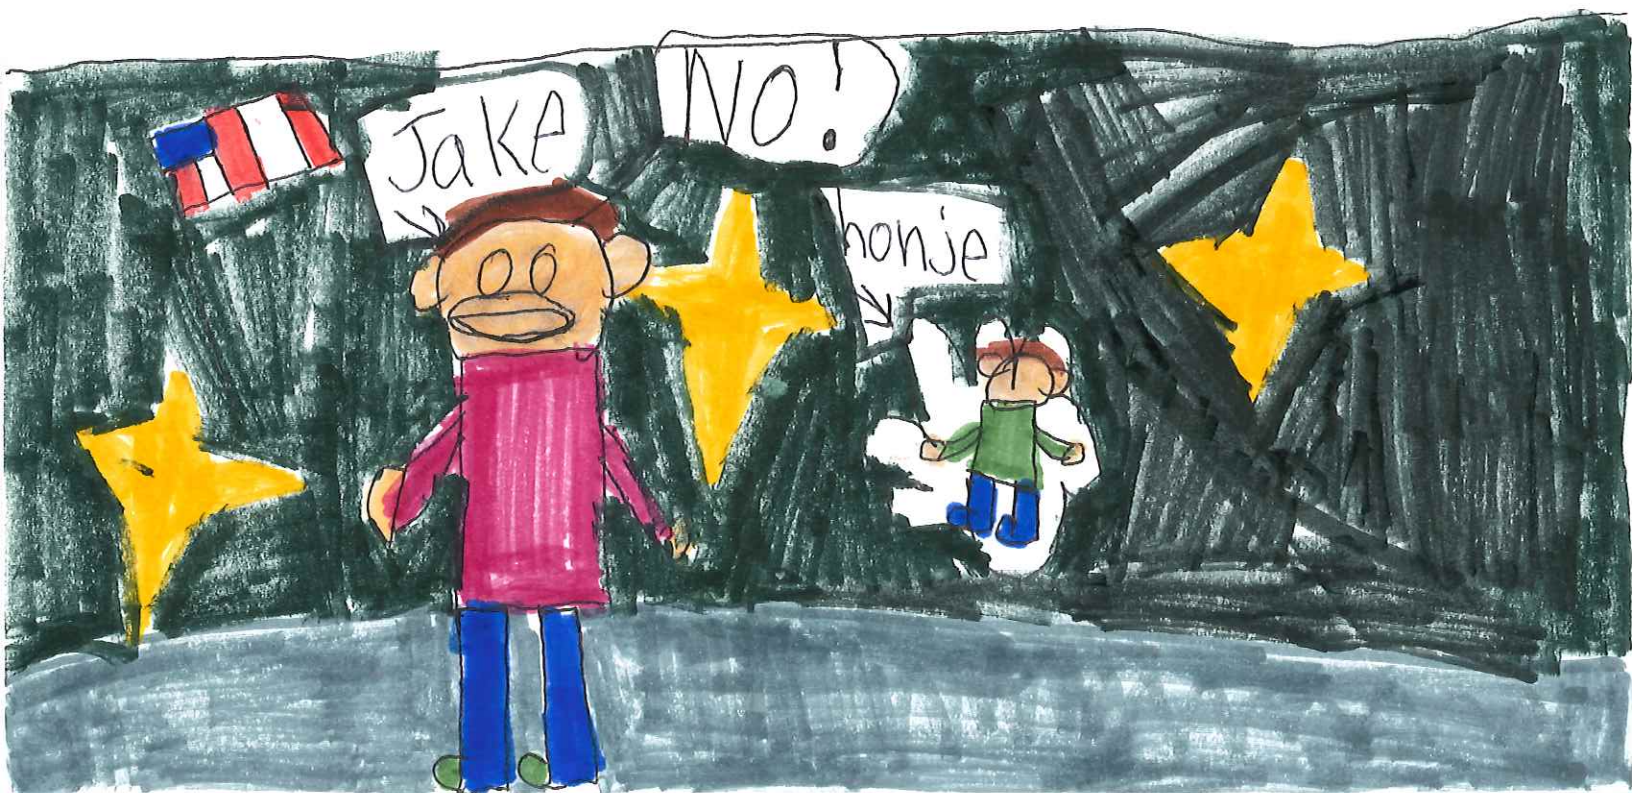

10 seconds later they were on the moon! But they noticed they were next to another spaceship. Jake pretended Hong e saying awesome!!! So they got thier spacesuits on and went outside

When Jake and Honie were outside they saw Neil Armstrong walking out of his rocket ship. They were mind blown. They must have gone back in time! They said hello in a small voice. But Neil Armstrong said nothing. Then they saw Buzz Aldrin put the flag on the moon. They said hello to him but Buzz Aldrin didn't talk.

After Buzz Aldrin put the flag on the Moon the ship blasted off, and the flag went flying. Jake and Honje tried to tell Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin, but they couldn't hear. So Jake and Honje chased it but got tired and couldn't catch it. Then the flag disappeared into the darkness.

Jake and Honda were so tired, but kept running across the hole entire Moon. Then they saw the flag, they put it back up.

Then luckily they saw their Spaceship right next to them. So they went in, and went back home. But they didn't notice they flag down! So who is going to put the flag back up!

The End
