

The different adventure

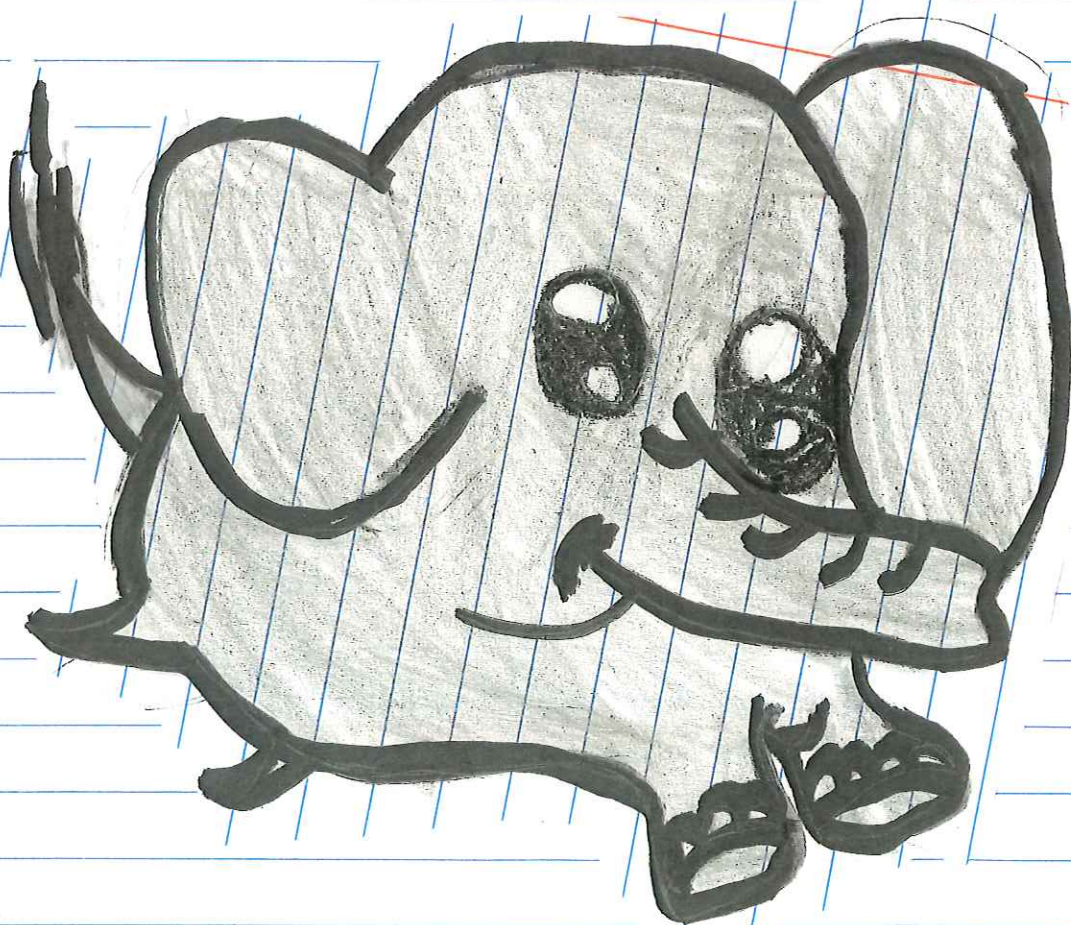

Two baby zebras were born in the grasslands. Zeebie and Zack were happy and fun but born different than other zebras.

They had black stripes like theirs but their color was light blue. Other zebras laughed at them.

One day Zeebie and Zack decided to go on an adventure to find other animals that were different to prove it was okay to be different. Along the way they met some friends. Elanor the elephant lost her back legs. She broke off her tusks to use as legs and walk.

Jumba the giraffe had a brown body with yellow spots and looked opposite of other giraffes. They joined in the adventure through the jungle, past a barn, and headed up the mountains.

When they got there, they saw another zebra who was pink and purple with black stripes. Her name was Blaze and she was beautiful. They all went back down the mountains, past the barn, through the jungle, and back to the grasslands. When the other zebras saw the other animals that were different they welcomed them. Elanor, Jumba, and Blaze said thank you for making their lives a lot easier. They all lived happily ever after.

The End.

