

The story of the gingerbread kitten written and illustrated by

Once upon a time, there was a little girl. Her grandmother took care of her. They were poor. All they had was an oven and a rickety old house. They lived by the ocean.

One day someone came and gave them the ingredients for a gingerbreadman. They are extras, he said. Thank you! The grandmother said. She decided to make one. She made it a kitten!

She put all the ingredients together and baked it for six mins. She took it out. It meowed! It wiggled its tail. Then it jumped to the table.

Neither of them wanted to eat it any more because it was so cute. They went on a walk. They played in the water.

Aak! The little girl said. A shark!
The little gingerbread kitten said: meow, meow! This is fun. If you eat me
I will nibble your tongue!

The shark did not hear.
I want to eat you he said.
The gingerbread kitten said it again:
meow, meow! This is fun. if you eat me I will nibble your tongue! It will not hurt! he said.
so he took her away.

stop, stop! (COME BACK!
The little girl cried meow!
The shark opened his mouth but the kitten jumped from his back to the beach. yay! They said. They went back home. The gingerbread kitten stayed safe for the rest of her life. The end.
