

The Mutant Garden

By: Greta
Odenbach

This is a mutant vegetable garden. They live right next to the mutant flower garden. One day they heard the farmer Joe say, "I'm going on vacation."

They also heard thinking- ah the plants will be fine.
But the plants knew that the weeds would come to bother the vegetables and kill the flowers!

The next day the weeds came. The BIG beasts were hideous! Then the biggest weed said "WE ARE BIGGER THAN YOU! WE CAN KILL A TULIP!" A tulip snipped the weed's stem with his leaf clippers! But it didn't kill the weed.

"OUCH!" Boomed the monster.

The peppers and tomatoes started swinging on their vines and hitting the weeds! Underground, the potatoes heard all the raucous and they don't like noise when sleeping in. They also saw weird roots. "Uh oh," the weeds thought, "the potatoes used the carrots as darts!"

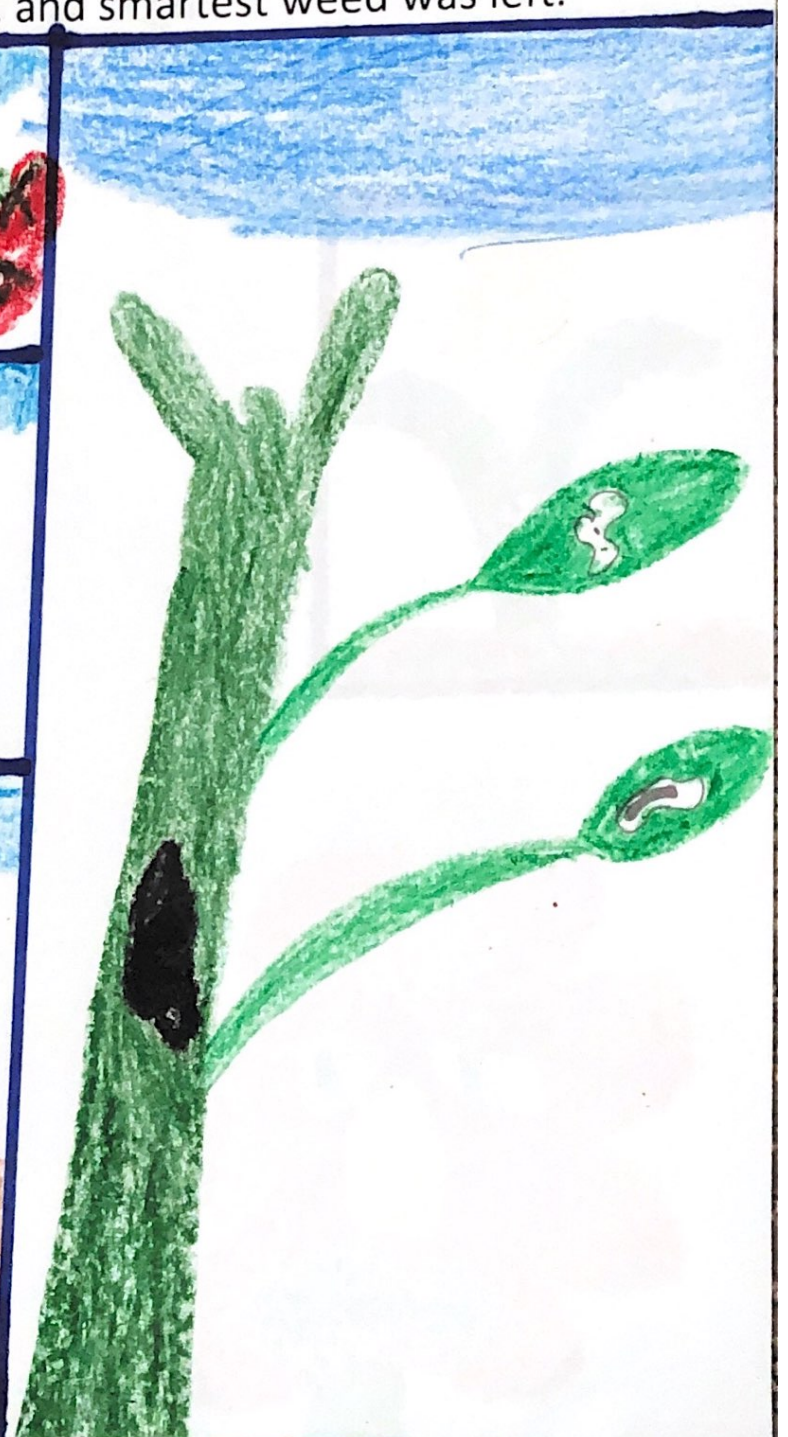

Above ground, the vegetables see the carrot's stem's slipping underground. "Oh no! the carrots can die!" they cried.

Then a weed booms, "AAAAAAAAAAH! A potato got it!" Pew! Pew pew! Pew pew pew pew!

Weeds were dying thanks to potatoes. The veggies were winning but the weeds weren't defeated. Their weakness was gaining but the biggest, strongest, and smartest weed was left.

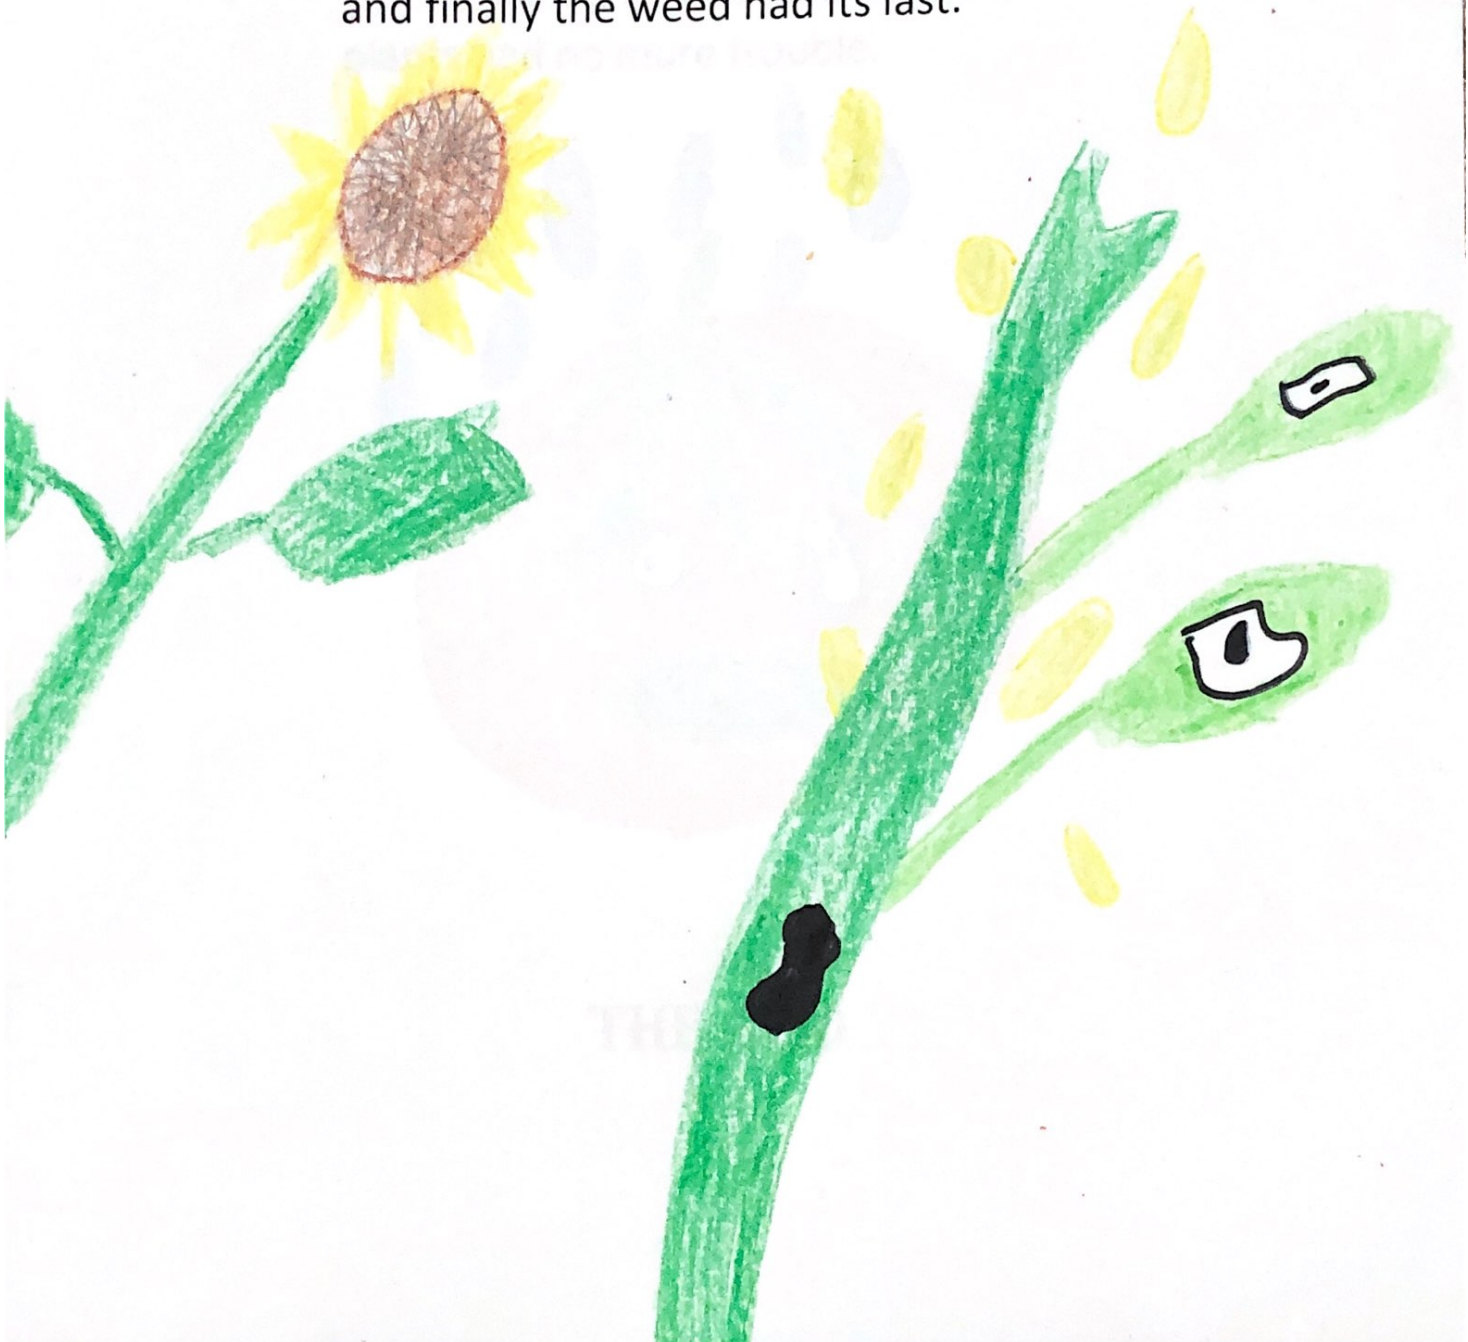

The baby shoots went to get popcorn for the event. The potatoes aim. The marigolds sharpen their scissors. The peppers and tomatoes start swinging. The fight has begun.

The marigolds start snipping and the potatoes and carrots did their duty. The weed was getting weaker but so were the vegetables! The sunflowers started pouring seeds from their heads and finally the weed had its last.

The vegetables won! The plants were dehydrated. That night a tomato felt a drop on him. It was raining! Hey guys! It's the farmer came back the next day and the plants had no more trouble.

RAINING!

THE END