

Color in Darkness

By Conrad Richards

Once upon a time, there was a boy named Samuel. He was very depressed. Everybody at school picked on him because he was color blind.

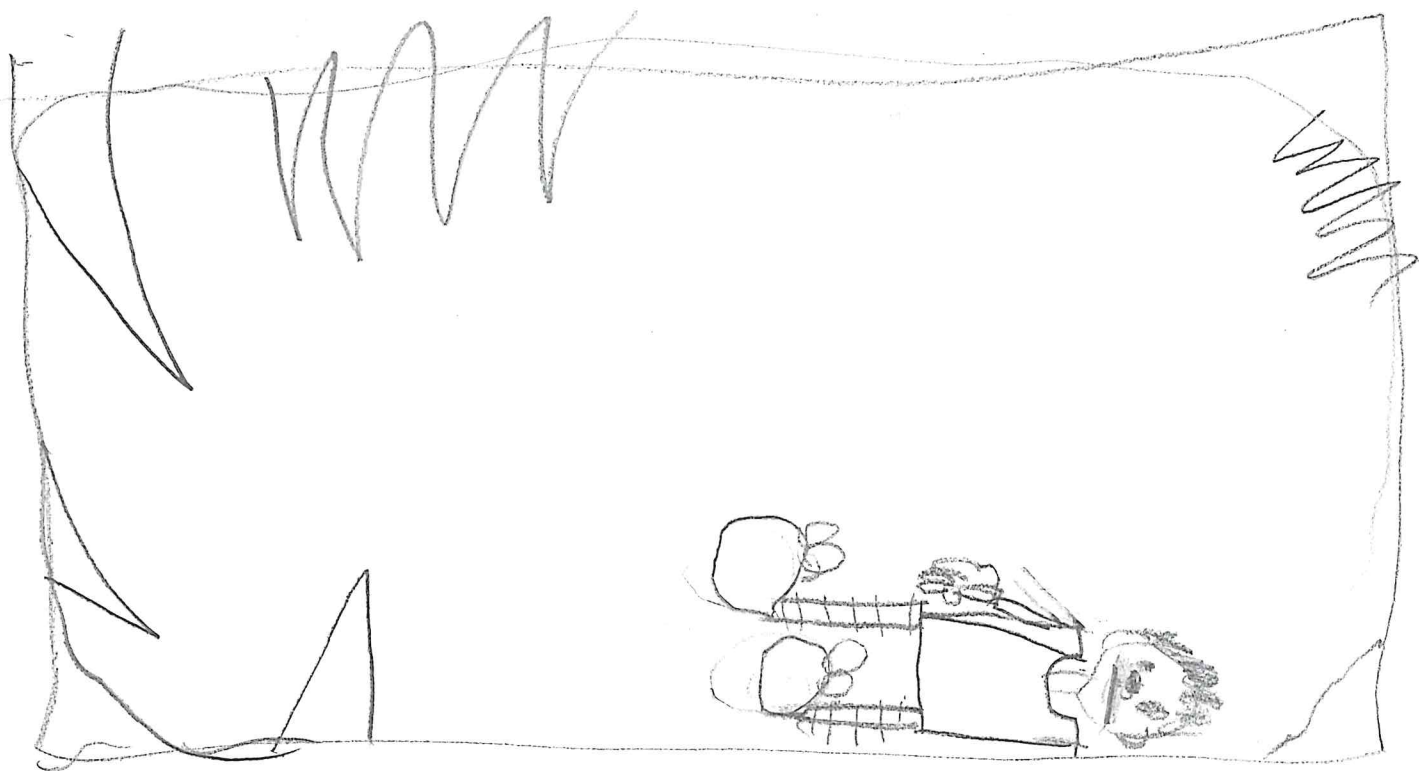

He couldn't handle it any more so, he ran away to the forest.

At the forest, he found a cave. He decided that is where he should sleep.

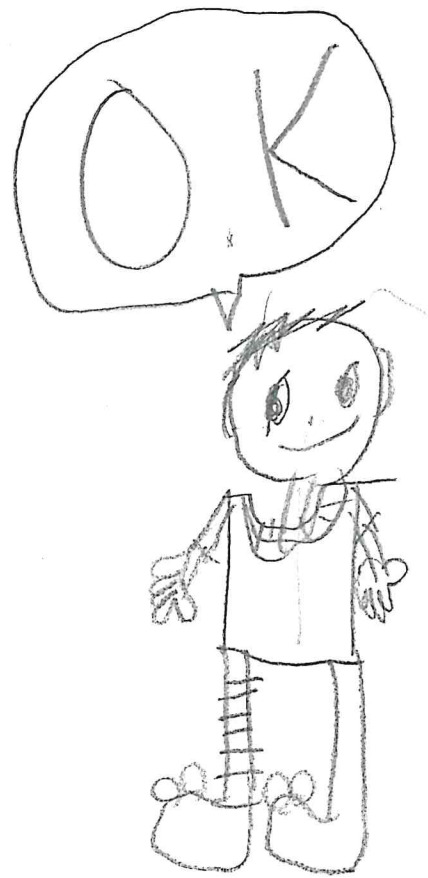

He was so tired that he fell asleep in fifteen minutes. He fell into a deep sleep and had a strange dream.

In his dream.....

Samuel couldn't believe his eyes. He could see COLOR! It was beautiful. He couldn't believe how blue the sky was and how green the trees around him were. He ran home yelling with excitement!

Samuel was never this happy before and he felt happiness for the rest of his life.

The End.
