

LARRY

hotdog

Once upon a time a hot dog with extra mustard named Larry came to Sweet City. Well, anyway, nobody liked Larry - Not Mrs. Ice Cream, who lived on Yummy Street, and not Popsicle Paul who was neighbors with Mrs. Ice Cream.

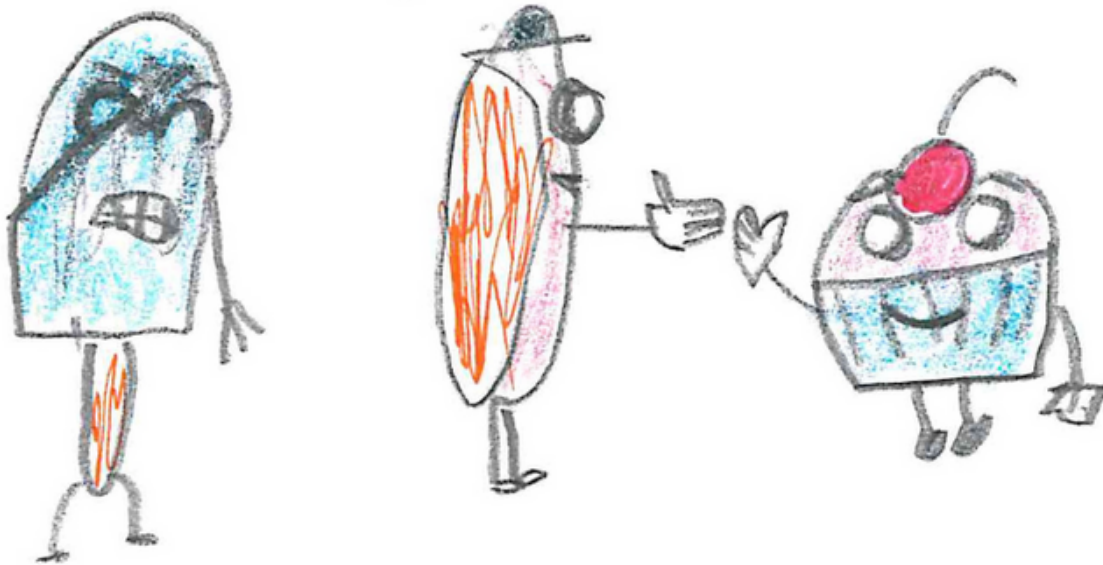

So nobody liked Larry no matter what! So even if poor Larry tried to be nice, every Sweet hated him.

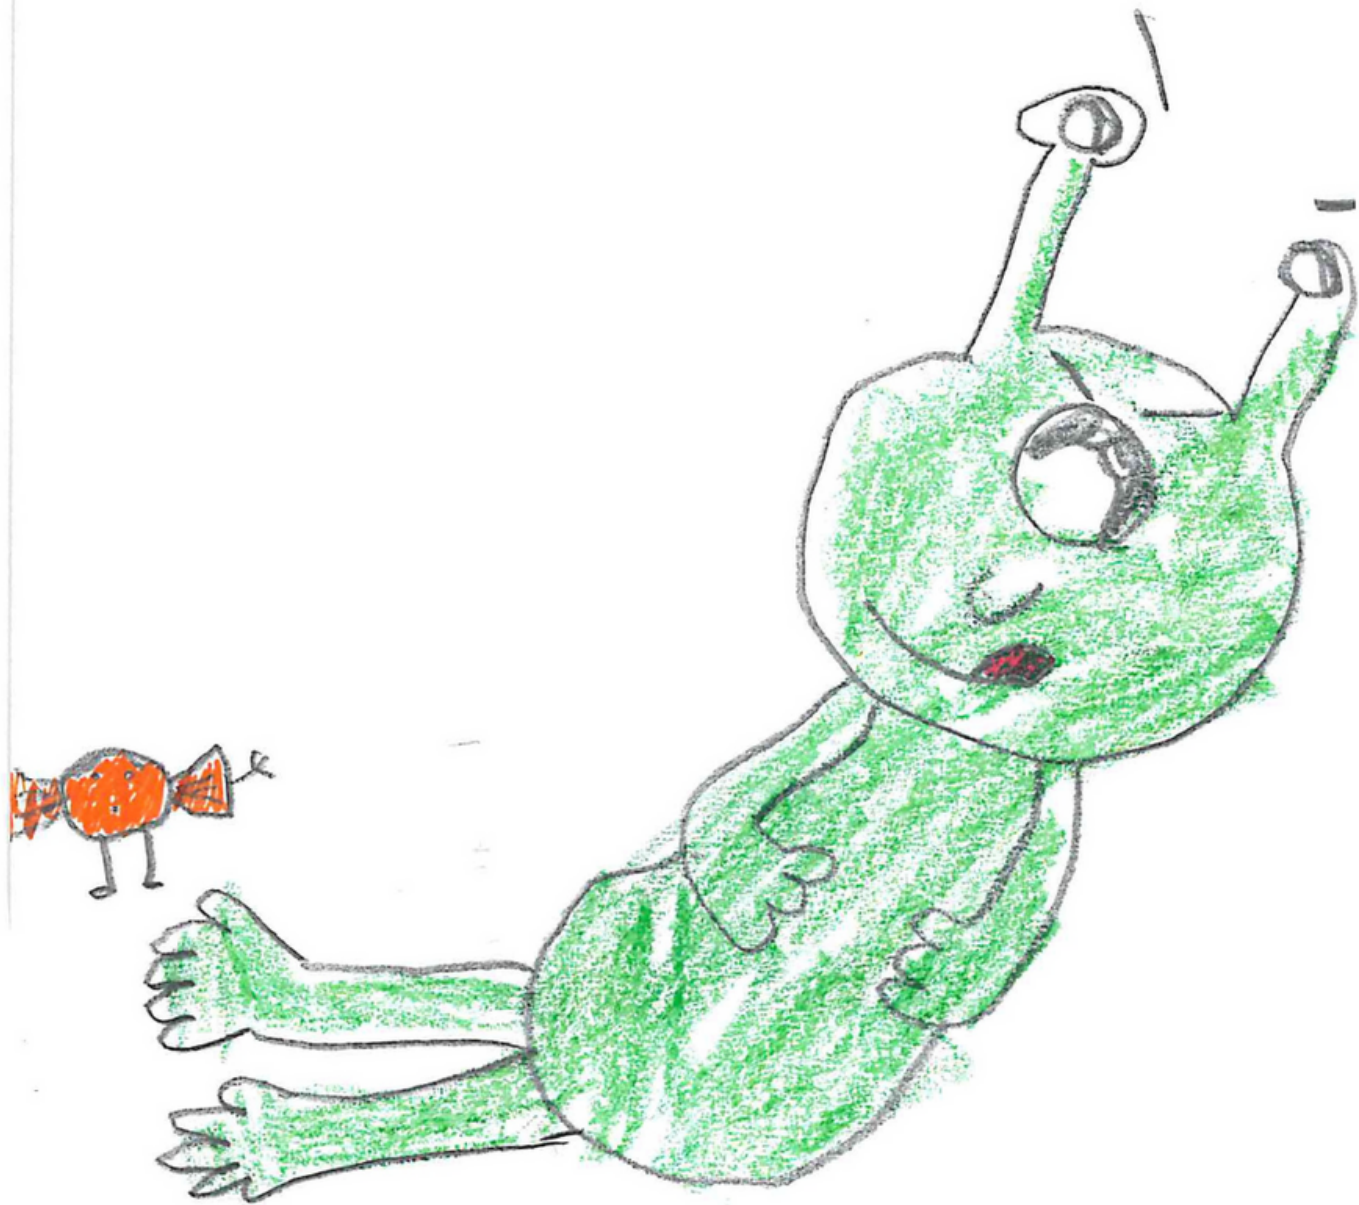

"Larry, get out of Sweet City, 'cause hot dogs with extra mustard aren't sweet!"

"I guess they aren't," he said sadly.

Slapi!

His only friend was Cupcake Casey. She was kind, caring and she said she would be friends with everybody. Well to Larry that was nice, but Mrs. Ice Cream, Popsicle Paul and the rest of Sweet City didn't prefer it much.

Sweet City's greatest fear was "the Sweet Eater" and every year two Sweets were eaten up by him. Did I mention that the Sweet Eater hated every food except Sweets? He lived in a dark sugar-covered cave. He was a mean, rude, filthy, yellow-toothed, slimy, gross, sugar-loving, gooey-winged grump!

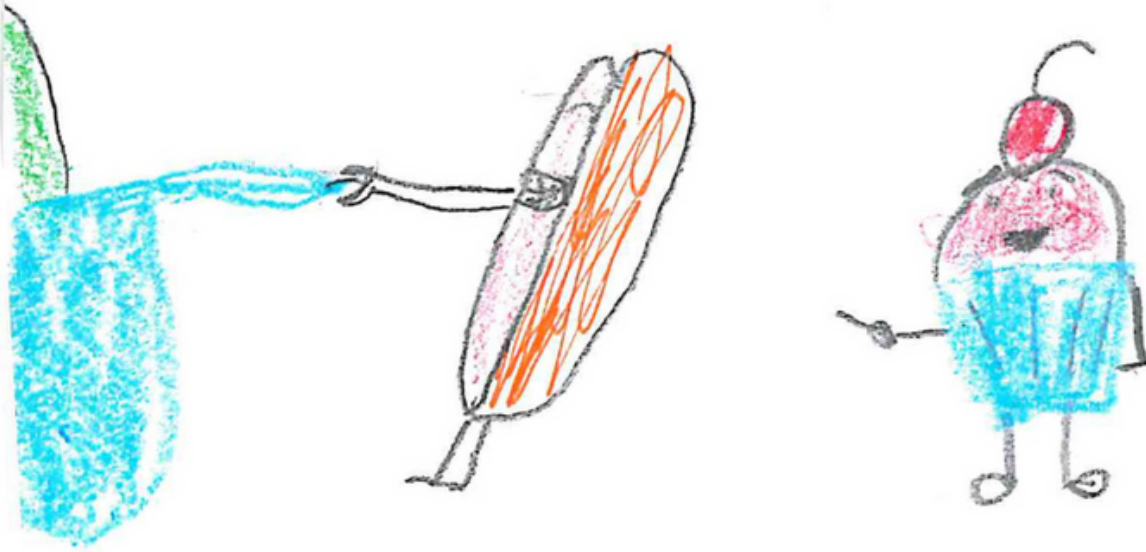

Well, anyway, everybody was afraid of him, except for Larry. He marched up to the cave and yelled, "Wake up! I'm not afraid of you!"

In a second, the Sweet Eater was on his feet and grinning wickedly. "Dinner!" He said, (which made Larry shiver). But Larry was brave. The Sweet Eater was allergic to mustard. Luckily the Sweet Eater thought he was a piece of candy so he licked Larry, dropped Larry, and fell backward and died instantly.

Anyway, Larry had a hot dog hat with lots of cool buttons (one hundred to be exact). It even had a sword which sliced off the Sweet Eater's head. Larry pushed the button in his hat and scooped up the monster's head and pushed the mustard button and sprayed lots of mustard on himself. Finally he reached Sweet City.

"Oh no!" "He's back!" "It's him!" "Get rid of him!" Shouted the townspeople. But Casey Cupcake yelled, "Look guys, look!" Everyone froze, stared, and...

Cheered!

Two years later, Casey and Larry were married!
It was a nice wedding and they became King and Queen of Sweet City.
