ON THE COVER GREAT MIGRATIONS

A People on the Move

Tuesdays, Jan 28 – Feb 18 at 9pm

This four-part documentary, hosted by Dr. Henry Louis Gates, Jr., explores the transformative impact of Black migration on American culture and society. From the waves of Black Americans to the North — and back South — over the last century to the growing number of immigrants from Africa and the Caribbean today, the film shows how movement is a defining feature of the Black experience.

A TIME OF REFLECTION & PROMISE

Phil Meyer, SOPBS CEO

The beginning of a new year provides an opportunity to look back, but also to look forward to what's ahead.

2024 was quite a year:

- Local content like ENERGY HORIZONS, US AS WE ARE, ALL ACROSS OREGON, OREGON FIELD GUIDE, OREGON ART BEAT and the independent film OTHER SIDE OF THE HILL helped us better understand who we are as Oregonians and the amazing place where we live;
- The FRONTLINE and AP Documentary 20 DAYS IN MARIUPOL won the Academy Award® for "Best Documentary Feature Film;"
- For the 21st year, PBS has been named #1 in public trust (77% of Americans say PBS is the most-trusted institution in the country);
- We enjoyed new seasons of ALL CREATURES GREAT AND SMALL, FINDING YOUR ROOTS, ANTIQUES ROADSHOW, MASTERPEICE, FRONTLINE, NOVA, NATURE and so many other favorites;
- Both our Governing Board and Community Advisory Board have welcomed new members;
- We have made long-term investments in our broadcasting infrastructure;
- We are stable and financially sound.

So much of that has been made possible by your contributions to SOPBS. Thank you.

But the road forward in 2025 is filled with challenges and obstacles. There is a prospect for significant challenges to public media funding in the coming year. We have overcome many challenges to our funding during public media's history and we can do it again, if we work together and remain focused on fulfilling our mission.

Our station's essential contributions to our local community have earned us supporters and champions from across the political spectrum. This is true at every public television station across the country, with bipartisan support from both the American public and in the halls of Congress.

Our station is part of Protect My Public Media, a grassroots action network of Americans who are dedicated to protecting local public television and radio stations and the programming and services they provide. Protect My Public Media has proven to be a powerful tool to build congressional support for public media funding and overcome funding challenges since it was created back in 2011. I encourage you to sign up for their email updates at protectmypublicmedia.org/join.

May the good things in life be yours in abundance, especially in the new year.

Sincerely,

Public media is noncommercial, free and accessible to all Americans!

JANUARY PROGRAM DESCRIPTIONS

Mon, Jan 27 –10pm

You may have heard of the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising, but most people have no idea how widespread and prevalent Jewish resistance to Nazi barbarism was. Instead, it's widely believed "Jews went to their deaths like sheep to the slaughter." Filmed in Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, Israel, and the U.S., the documentary provides a much-needed correction to this myth of Jewish passivity. There were uprisings in ghettos large and small, rebellions in death camps, and thousands of Jews fought Nazis in the forests. Secret networks of curators and dealers -- many of them Nazis like Bruno Lohse (the "Plunderer") -- made fortunes on the back of Nazi-looted art, perpetuating a decades-long war crime that has never been fully exposed or resolved. Season 4 finds the unlikely detective duo in Vienna in 1909, where the double murder of a senior public official and an arms dealer in police custody has shaken the city to its core. Freudian psychoanalyst Max Liebermann has just returned from a lecture tour in America when Inspector Oskar Rheinhardt asks for help in what could be the most dangerous case of their careers.

Working together on an increasingly perilous investigation, Oskar and Max uncover a conspiracy that leads to the heart of the government. Can they stop the seditious mole known as “Mephisto” from destroying the Austro-Hungarian Empire? And will their lives ever be the same?

Jan 5 – Episode 1: Mephisto Waltz

Oskar must identify a high-level traitor known as Mephisto, who threatens the very existence of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. Oskar seeks Max's help.

Jan 12 – Episode 2: A Winning Hand

Jan 19 – Episode 3: The Enemy Within

Max is in a coma and the doctors don't know if he will survive. Wracked with guilt, Oskar knows only that Max's assailant is linked to his pursuit of Mephisto. Despite the Commissioner's warning to stay away, Oskar investigates.

Jan 26 – Episode 4: The Face of Mephisto

When a lead takes him to a rendezvous with Mephisto, Oskar finds himself in the middle of an assassination attempt that could precipitate a world war.

White clung to the belief that, for all its flaws, America held the seeds of its own redemption. When White took over the NAACP in 1929, Black Americans were socially and politically marginalized. By the time he died in 1955, they were a crucial segment of the electorate and on the brink of the landmark legal and legislative victories that would forever reshape the country.

GREAT MIGRATIONS

A PEOPLE ON THE MOVE

HOSTED BY HENRY LOUIS GATES, JR.

In Four Parts, Tuesdays, January 28 & February 4, 11 & 18 at 9pm

The series tells the story of African American movement over the 20th and 21st centuries, and how it has shaped our nation by exploring the meaning behind those movements. What political or economic pressures inspire people to move? Is it more often inspired by hope or fear? Is there even such a thing as a promised land? GREAT MIGRATIONS is directed by Julia Marchesi and Nailah Ife Sims, who also serve as producers of the series. Dyllan McGee serves as executive producer, along with Gates.

Human beings have always moved en masse. Since the beginning of human existence, movement has defined how we evolved and created identities, communities, and nations-states. Migration is not unique to any single ethnicity or group, but it is a deeply profound aspect of the modern African American experience simply because Black people were denied movement for so long. There was a forced migration from Africa, followed by centuries of enslavement that kept them in place. In being denied movement, they were denied their humanity.

After emancipation, the migratory spirit took hold in this new space of freedom, and many African Americans uprooted themselves from all that was familiar to move to northern cities (sometimes stopping first in southern cities) to build entirely new lives – a decision that dramatically changed the fabric of American culture and society. It was an epic migration of people that began in the late 19th century when it was clear that the early promises of Reconstruction would not be fulfilled, and accelerated as the century progressed. Underlying this courageous act was the abiding belief in American opportunity, as well as a belief in their own capacity to better their lives, and the lives of their children. In some ways, it has never really ended.

Throughout GREAT MIGRATIONS, Gates, the Alphonse Fletcher University Professor at Harvard University and director of the Hutchins Center for African and African American Research, interviews dozens of journalists, scholars, professors, and experts. The series includes notable figures including political leader Stacey Abrams, artist George F. Baker III, journalist Charles Blow, and more.

“The Great Migration was not just a seismic historical event; it’s an ongoing story,” said Gates. “Our series focuses on three dramatic migrations that have profoundly shaped the African American experience, and redefined what it means to be ‘Black’ in this country: the great migration from the Deep South to the North and West; the reverse migration back to the South, and most recently the astonishing large migration of Africans and West Indians to this country in recent decades. In fact, more Africans migrated to the United States in a ten-year period than were forcibly shipped here over the entire course of the slave trade! Our series is the first to explore these three mass movements of Black human beings to this country, and what that has meant for the reshaping of American culture.”

Reflecting on the series, series producers/directors, Julia Marchesi and Nailah Ife Sims share, “Over the past century, Black migration has shaped the fabric of our biggest cities, our industries, our music, our food, our politics, and so much more. It’s an honor to have the opportunity to create a series that highlights just how powerful the choice to move has been for the trajectories of so many Black families, and this ‘great experiment’ called America.”

Episode One – Tues, Jan 28 at 9pm

The first wave of the Great Migration (1910–1940), when more than a million Black Americans fled the Jim Crow South for the promised lands of the North, forever changing the course of the country and themselves.

Episode Two – Tues, Feb 4 at 9pm

The second wave of the Great Migration (1940–1970), highlighting how Northern and Western Black communities matured through migration and transformed the cultural and political power of Black America. long-time adversary, access to the river.

Episode Three – Tues, Feb 11 at 9pm

the reverse migration of Black Americans to the South — driven by mass movements, economic change, and an ongoing struggle for freedom and opportunity — continues to reshape the country.

Episode Four – Tues, Feb 18 at 9pm

the story of African and Caribbean immigrants in the United States, examining their profound impact on American culture and what it means to be Black in America.
