

Audrey R.

Super STEM

1st Place

Southwest- Second Grade

Super STEM

Once there lived a girl and her name was Scarlett, and this was in the old days so girls weren't allowed to do any STEM. It was horrible. She had to do home-ec. She said it was boring. Scarlett wanted to try STEM, but she was not allowed to. But the next day at school she stuck into a STEM class. Scarlett was so excited but she didn't notice that a teacher was right behind her. Scarlett got caught. She was in big trouble, especially with her home-ec teacher. Scarlett was sent back to her home-ec class, and she had detention!

Detention was boring, but there were some girls that she liked. One's name was Lily and another one was Rose. One day in detention Scarlett's teacher came in to let some people go. She called Rose and Lily and Scarlett. "Yeah!" they shouted. They went back to the home-ec room and they sat and sat and sat until the bell rang.

The next day they met up at school and they all made a persuasive writing and the thing they wanted to persuade was STEM for girls! They worked on it all day. Then, when they were done, they gave it to their teacher and crossed their fingers. The teacher read it, and said, "NO, NO, NO! No way, you may not do STEM!" "Okay," they said, slumly.

The next day at school there were signs everywhere saying "GIRLS CAN DO STEM!" Lily, Scarlett, and Rose made them. They were also protesting in the gym. "Will this work?" said Lily. "I'm not sure," said Scarlett, "but let's keep trying." "GIRLS CAN DO STEM!" they shouted, but nobody listened. But when they glanced over, their home-ec teacher was watching. When they looked at her, she quickly turned away.

After school, Nellie, the home-ec teacher, told them to come to her desk. Nellie said that she was on their side and they would start to do more experiments in class. And the teacher and the girls were friends and lived happily ever after. The end!!!

By Audrey XXXXXXXXXX

! Detention !

hello class!
I'm your detention teacher.

edume AAAAWWWW!

me hey I think the teachers coming!

Lilly

Rose

