Team Member Spotlight

Dr. Arionna Ralleigh

Curriculum Design Manager

At Nine PBS: 10 months.

Briefly, what is your responsibility?

I focus on building a curriculum that can be used in classrooms across the region. These resources are built with teacher input and support. We are also building a community of educators that can interact through our Facebook group and by coming to our in-person professional learning opportunities.

What show(s) on Nine PBS are you watching or recommending?

I love watching Teaching in Room 9 with my children!

What do you enjoy doing when you're not at work?

I am often reading a book or being a dance mom. I also love traveling with my family.

2022 Nine PBS Strategic Plan

Our Core Purpose

Nine PBS magnifies and deepens understanding of our community to help our region flourish.

Our Values

Community

There is great joy in being an essential part of our community and this propels our work in the region and beyond.

Trust

Our community relies on us to act with integrity, to be transparent, and tell authentic stories.

Equity

For our community to thrive, everyone must thrive. We bring people together to amplify voices and work toward solutions that identify and eliminate barriers for all.

Learning

We believe in the transformative power of learning for everyone.

People & Culture

We create and sustain a positive, high-performing, inspiring, and inclusive culture that prioritizes the well-being and belonging of every member of our team.

Community, Relationships & Stakeholders

We convene and listen to our community and strengthen relationships with trusted partners in our region and beyond.

Strategic Priorities That Align to Drive Us Forward

Financial Strength & Sustainability

We are a valuable community institution worthy of investment and will be well-resourced with strong reserves to sustain growth and address challenges.

Platforms, Content & Relevance

We use key platforms to strengthen our region and expand audiences. Through engaging and educational content and experiences we remain relevant in the ever-changing media landscape.

Dear Friends,

In these complex times, our core purpose is simple: We exist to help our region flourish.

In a collaborative effort with our board, staff, and community members, we're launching an ambitious three-year strategic plan anchored by four key values: community, trust, equity, and learning.

These values will drive four strategic priorities, with our community central to our decision-making. See how they align to drive us forward on the facing page.

1. It starts with our team members. Over the past year, the Nine PBS team has been honored 20 times by local organizations for its work on the community's behalf. Our efforts to sustain a positive, high-performing, and inclusive culture that prioritizes well-being and belonging was recognized for the second year in a row when we were named one of the best places for women to work by the Women's Foundation of Greater St. Louis.
2. We wrote the book on community engagement that other public media organizations across the country follow. Our local content and initiatives are the result of listening to our community and partnering with trusted organizations that are doing stellar work in areas that are important to our region's future.

3. Through engaging and educational content and experiences, we will remain relevant in an ever-changing media landscape. You can find our content everywhere—live television or streaming anytime, anywhere with your favorite app.
4. We couldn't do any of this without investment in the future of the organization. That's why being well-resourced with financial reserves to sustain growth and address challenges is essential.

Now is the perfect time to join us in our mission of helping our region flourish. Please make your mark with a gift to Nine PBS or a legacy donation: Our Nine PBS Legacy Match initiative will match a percentage of your gift. Learn more at ninepbs.org/legacy.

I'm honored to lead Nine PBS. Thank you for your support.

Celebrating Joy and Community

Gates sits with noted scholars, politicians, cultural leaders, and old friends to discuss the world behind the color line and what it looks like today.

Making Black America: Through the Grapevine* is the latest series from the acclaimed Harvard scholar and documentarian, Professor Henry Louis Gates, Jr. The four-part series chronicles the vast social networks and organizations created by and for Black people beyond the reach of the “white gaze.”

The series recounts the establishment of the Prince Hall Masons in 1775 through the formation of all-Black towns and business districts, historically Black colleges and universities, destinations for leisure, and the social media phenomenon of Black Twitter.

Making Black America takes viewers into an extraordinary world that showcases Black people’s ability to collectively prosper, defy white supremacy, and define Blackness in ways that transformed the U.S. itself.

In Making Black America, Gates joins in intimate conversation with Black thought leaders and community members, as well as interviews leading historians and other experts, to examine many themes within the Black American experience. The documentary surveys slavery, freedom, and the contours of the bond between North and South, continues with Reconstruction, and life under Jim Crow rule. It demonstrates—through personal and historical stories—the status of the ongoing effort to organize and achieve goals first set during slavery.

“It was profoundly meaningful to work on this series at a time in history when we’ve needed community more than ever,” says Gates, the film’s host, writer, and executive producer. “Through centuries of enslavement and segregation, repressive violence, and insidious structural traps, Black Americans shut out of the ‘American Dream’ did anything but fold. Instead, they created their own dazzling array of social, political, and economic spaces.

“Making Black America tells the story of these remarkable Black social networks and how they wove an interconnected web of opportunities and uplift for generations that continue to comfort and inspire.”

“Making Black America is not just about struggle. It’s about the beauty, the love, the joy, and the laughter that African Americans created in spaces for us and by us,” says Stacey L. Holman, the series producer and director.

Throughout the documentary, Gates explores how Black Americans under segregation launched a renaissance that revolutionized American culture and opened up spaces where Black citizens could rise as leaders within their communities.

While blocked by the walls of exclusion, Black people nevertheless fought for social justice and social health in vigorous ways, accomplishing a stunning set of achievements that impact American culture through today.

The film concludes with an accounting of what the dismantling of legal segregation created in the U.S. meant for the world’s Black people and what remains for the present generation to draw on.

▶ The series will air live October 4, 11, 18, 25, from 8–9 pm, and streams anytime on ninepbs.org and the PBS Video App.

Black History

Harriet Tubman: Visions of Freedom

A rich and nuanced portrait of the woman known as a conductor of the Underground Railroad, who repeatedly risked her own life and freedom to liberate others from slavery. The film features more than 20 historians and experts and, grounded in the most recent scholarship, the film goes beyond the standard narrative to explore what motivated Tubman, including divine inspiration, to become one of the greatest freedom fighters in our nation’s history.

▶ Tuesday, October 4, 9 pm

Becoming Frederick Douglass

The inspiring story of how a man born into slavery became one of the most prominent statesmen and influential voices for democracy in American history. The documentary explores how Douglass controlled his own image and narrative, embracing photography as a tool for social justice, and the role he played in securing the right to freedom and complete equality for Black Americans.

▶ Tuesday, October 11, 9 pm

Community and Classroom Resources

Making Black America will be accompanied by an outreach and public engagement program, providing opportunities for you to participate in a national conversation about the impact of Black organizing and community-building, and the ongoing implications for American society today. In addition, there will be a website at pbs.org/makingblackamerica and educational resources designed to engage teachers and students through multiple platforms, including PBS LearningMedia. You are encouraged to join the conversation on social media with @HenryLouisGates. Use hashtag #MakingBlackAmericaPBS.

Harvey and Judy Harris Receive the 2022 Pioneer Spirit Award

Both Harvey and Judy Harris bring a passion for giving to the St. Louis community, supporting a variety of organizations, including those with a focus on healthcare, civic development, sciences, and the arts.

Nine PBS honored Harvey and Judy Harris for their philanthropy, service to the St. Louis community, and generous support of Nine PBS with the 2022 Jack Galmiche Pioneer Spirit Award at its Midsummer Celebration in the Public Media Commons on June 24.

In nearly 30 years of service to Nine PBS, Harvey and Judy Harris have contributed financial resources, as well as time, expertise, and connections in the community. They've opened their home for events, working to expand Nine PBS's footprint in the community and strengthen the organization.

Their generous contributions helped build our home in Grand Center and they continue to support Nine PBS's endowment to ensure Nine PBS is here for future generations.

The June 24 event also marked the rededication of the space outside of Nine PBS as the Jack Galmiche Public Media Commons. The Commons opened in 2014 to acclaim; it was Jack's vision of a world-class urban space for public engagement that made the Commons a reality.

Kirchherr Receives Emmy Honor

Nine PBS Executive Producer Jim Kirchherr will be inducted into National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences' Mid-America Chapter's Sliver Circle at its 46th Emmy Gala on October 29. With 44 years in the business, Jim is an institution in St. Louis, beloved by the viewing audience. He has been an integral part of Nine PBS. Congratulations, Jim!

New Donnybrook Call-in Line

The Donnybrook team has launched a call-in line for viewers. Call (314) 512-9094 and leave a voice mail with your informed opinion about Thursday's Donnybrook conversations. Messages that respectfully further the conversation might get played on air or on social media. By leaving a message, you are granting Nine PBS permission to use your voice recording on air or online. Donnybrook and Donnybrook Next Up air on Thursdays at 7 pm and 7:30 pm. Watch live or anytime on the PBS Video App.

Donnybrook is supported by Design Aire Heating and Cooling.

Mexican American, Rosie, Stars in New Animated Show

Rosie's Rules, a colorful new 2D animated preschool comedy series makes its debut on October 3. Rosie's Rules stars five-year-old Rosie Fuentes, a bilingual Mexican American girl from suburban Texas, who is just beginning to learn about how the great, big, fascinating world around her works.

Featuring an engaging social studies curriculum, a dynamic cast of characters, catchy music, and hilarious stories, the new series aims to show kids ages 3–6 how they, as individuals, fit into their own community, as well as broader society.

In Rosie's quest to understand some of the world's most mystifying concepts, her astute discoveries become Rosie's Rules. These "rules" for navigating everyday life range from the silly ("Don't try to mail your cat to Mexico."), to the sweet ("There's nothing better than making your abuela happy.") to the practical ("Sometimes flopping helps you get your feelings out.").

Rosie and her blended, multicultural family live in suburban Texas. Her papá is from Mexico City, and her entrepreneurial mom is from rural Wisconsin. Rosie has a little brother, Iggy, and an older sister, Crystal, who is her mom's child from her first marriage. Gatita is Rosie's fluffy feline sidekick.

Rosie's Rules games will launch in tandem with the series on ninepbs.pbskids.org and the free PBS KIDS Games App. To extend the learning at home, parent resources, including tips and hands-on activities, will be available on PBS KIDS for Parents. For educators, PBS LearningMedia will offer classroom-ready materials, including video excerpts, games, teaching tips, and printable activities.

Refresh of Iconic PBS KIDS Logo

PBS KIDS® updated its logo for the first time in two decades. The new logo debuted in July and features a bright updated color palette and an array of new people and environments. The refreshed look is designed to build on the equity and strength of the PBS KIDS brand—perfected for today's digitally focused kids and families.

The new text-focused logo is dominated by bright, fun colors, large bold lettering, and clear visuals.

With feedback from parents, kids, and experts in the field, the logo's use of PBS KIDS text only reinforces the beloved, trusted, and familiar brand name and signals fun, safe, educational content for families.

Complementing the logo redesign, PBS KIDS worked on an expansion of the graphics that is reflective of the kids and families they serve. The creative includes a vibrant color pallet with combinations that conform with accessibility standards, whimsical typography, engaging design elements, and new visuals of people and places that bring a diversity of culture, race, ethnicity, geography, family structure, varying abilities, body type, and more to the PBS KIDS visual world.

Nine PBS Goes Back to School

KWTO: Legendary Live Country Radio

This Ozarks Public Television documentary focuses on the live music era of a Springfield, MO, radio station from 1933 to the end of the Ozark Jubilee in 1960. It tells the story of how the town of Springfield had a major influence on country music across the nation. From its first broadcast on Christmas Day in 1933, KWTO's focus on live, local music helped launch the careers of many regional musicians and was the driving force behind the development of The Ozark Jubilee, a nationally successful "hillbilly variety show."

The U.S. and the Holocaust

This docuseries from Ken Burns, Lynn Novick, and Sarah Botstein dispels competing myths that Americans either were ignorant of the unspeakable persecution that Jews and other targeted minorities faced in Europe or that they looked on with callous indifference. The film tackles a range of questions that remain essential to our society today, including how racism influences policies related to immigration and refugees as well as how governments and people respond to the rise of authoritarian states that manipulate history and facts to consolidate power.

The Places Music Has Taken Me: An Unfinished Story of Sarah Bryan Miller

Sarah Bryan Miller, or "Bryan" as she was known to friends and family, was unable to complete her retrospective column as classical music critic for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch before she died in November 2020, but her legacy is preserved in a film about the important role she played in the arts, and the lives she touched. Hosted by acclaimed conductor Leonard Slatkin, artistic leaders, colleagues, and friends throughout the country pay tribute to Bryan and the importance the role of classical music reviewer plays in cultural life, particularly today.

tasteMAKERS: Winemaking in Missouri: A Well-Cultivated History

A documentary from Emmy-winning producer and host Catherine Neville dives deep to uncover the roots of one of the U.S.'s most storied wine regions. Beginning in the early 1800s, European immigrants brought their culinary preferences with them, including the cultivation of grapes for making wine. Vines were planted, grapes harvested, and juice fermented and soon, a wine industry was born. The industry expanded to become one of the leading industries in Missouri, which was for a time the second largest wine-producing state in the country.

Make Your Mark on St. Louis

They Are—Even Today

Two women, likely strangers, shared an abiding love of St. Louis. Both worked with the St. Louis Community Foundation to ensure they left a legacy of ongoing regional impact long after their deaths.

Today, Bertha transforms young lives through scholarship grants, while Lucille continues to support the arts and vital community initiatives.

How will you make your mark?

St. Louis Community Foundation experts are here to help you explore the possibilities.

Channel 9.3 and Spectrum 185 | September is focused on back to school, suicide prevention, and mental health.

The Good Road

This Emmy-nominated series looks at the messy business of global charity. Hosts Earl Bridges and Craig Martin—longtime philanthropy veterans, globetrotters, and best friends—trek around the world to meet people making a difference in their communities. In Season 3, they visit with people tackling big issues such as PTSD, racism, climate change, overfishing, plastic pollution, and civilian space travel.

Tuesday, September 6, 8 pm

Local, USA: Decolonizing Mental Health

The mental health field operates around a center defined by a whiteness of theory and practice. It's a colonization that has rarely been questioned. By focusing on the work of therapists and individuals of color, this episode calls for a redress of the ways in which we define psychiatric illness, while discussing what a more responsive mental health care system should look like.

Monday, September 12, 8 pm

DON'T MISS

Three character-driven films explore the present catharsis we are living in, following the death of George Floyd. It dives into how the current uprising is impacting communities and how we can contribute to discussions about racial justice reform in Local, USA: The Conversation Remix.
