Dear Friends,

Welcome to the new Nine PBS Magazine! Many of our peer public TV stations are eliminating their print magazines in favor of a digital-only format. We've heard from many of you that you still appreciate the print format, so we are adapting the print version and also continuing to offer a digital version.

You'll notice that we've streamlined the magazine (saving paper and postage costs in the process), so that more of your financial support goes to fund our core purpose of helping our region thrive. And please give the digital edition of the magazine a try. The flipbook format of the digital magazine mimics the print experience, and you can enlarge the pages to ensure a comfortable reading experience. You can read it on your phone, too! Open your preferred web browser, type ninepbs.org/magazine, and start reading!

There are so many ways to watch your favorite content. Most of our programs are available to stream free at your convenience for a limited time on the PBS App or for extended periods with the membership benefit of Nine PBS Passport. And of course, our on-air schedule continues to attract faithful viewers, positioning us as the most watched PBS station in the country in 2022. Want to learn more about any of the viewing options? Email us at contactus@ninepbs.org.

The sports scene in our region is about more than just sports—it's a major economic driver. We explore this in a new special, Power of the Pitch, which is also our cover feature. I hope you will be watching it on September 18 at 7 pm on Nine PBS or anytime on the PBS App.

Best,

Amy Shaw

Our volunteers were on hand in June when the Girl Scouts of Eastern Missouri Media Team visited our studios to learn more about video shoots, TV interviews, and more.

Our Donnybash Live 2023 membership event at The Sheldon Concert Hall in June was lots of fun. Get your tickets for the April 2024 event at ninepbs.org/donate.

Advocate for Public Media

Let's be clear: Without federal funding, there is no public media. We're facing an unpredictable environment of funding cuts and closed-door agreements, so we'll need your support to protect funding during budget negotiations in Congress. Please join Protect My Public Media, a coalition of grassroots advocates and public media stations and organizations, including Nine PBS, to stay up to date on protecting this essential public service.

Multiple studies confirm that ending funding would devastate, if not destroy, public media, resulting in the loss of programs and services or stations going off air.

- Go to protectmypublicmedia.org to sign up for email updates, find an easy way to contact your local lawmakers, spread the word on social media, and dive into public media funding.

PBS Podcasts for Kids

Keyshawn Solves It podcast is an eight-episode serialized mystery about a 10-year-old African American boy who inherits a set of keys that can unlock almost any door. With help from his friend Kiki, Keyshawn uses these keys to help solve the mystery of disappearing bikes in his North Minneapolis neighborhood, ensuring that his community's Juneteenth bike parade can go on.

Listeners will be introduced to Juneteenth and its origins, as well as to social-emotional “keys to success” such as resilience, self-worth, and responsibility. Geared to children 5-9, Keyshawn Solves It is produced by GBH Kids and distributed by PRX and PBS KIDS with funding made possible in part by Black Public Media.

- Listen wherever you get your podcasts. Other PBS podcasts for kids include The Arthur Podcast, Molly of Denali, and Odd Squadcast.

Grantchester Says Emotional Farewell to Will Davenport

As filming got underway on the ninth season of the hit Masterpiece and ITV show Grantchester, lead actor Tom Brittney confirmed that Season 9 will be his last.

Tom, who has played the much-loved character Reverend Will Davenport since 2019, is stepping back from his role to focus on new projects. But as one door closes, another one opens and the village welcomes Rishi Nair as the charismatic vicar, Alphy Kotteram.

"I'm absolutely thrilled to be joining Grantchester," says Nair. "The welcome and support I've received from everyone has been overwhelming. ...I'm really excited to get started and cannot wait for the Grantchester fans to meet Alphy and to see all that's in store for him."

Robson Green (left), who plays Detective Geordie Keating, and the new vicar in town, Rishi Nair.

In Season 9, Reverend Alphy Kotteram has an instinctive distrust for authority and absolutely no desire to get involved in murder investigations. But Alphy and Geordie will discover they have a lot more in common than they first think, and Alphy will find that in Grantchester, murder is never far away.

From deadly circuses, abandoned babies, and hostile historians to vanishing valets and murderous satirists, Geordie and Alphy witness first-hand how religion can be corrupted, but also how faith, love, and friendship can offer hope and renewal.

New Moderator of Washington Week Named

Jeffrey Goldberg, the editor in chief of The Atlantic, was named the new moderator of Washington Week in August. The Atlantic will join PBS NewsHour and producing station WETA as an editorial partner on the show, to be rebranded as Washington Week with The Atlantic.

Goldberg has been the editor in chief of The Atlantic since 2016, and in that time its journalism and audience have both reached new heights with the magazine winning Pulitzer Prizes in each of the past three years. He retains that role as moderator of Washington Week.

"Washington Week holds a special and rare place on television, to have a space for civil and extended conversation about the issues affecting the news and our world. Gwen built this show into an institution, continued by Robert and by Yamiche, and I'm honored to carry on this tradition as The Atlantic embarks on this partnership," says Goldberg.

The partnership arrives at a pivotal moment ahead of the 2024 general election and solidifies Washington Week as the primary source of objective reporting and insightful analysis from leading journalists about the biggest events impacting the lives of Americans.

Doc Martin

Martin Clunes stars as the surly, self-centered, formerly hotshot London surgeon, Dr. Martin Ellingham. The series centers around Martin, who after developing a fear of blood, is forced to change careers and relocate to the charming town of Portwenn, where he clashes with the village's quirky inhabitants. Watch Seasons 8 and 9!

Celebrity Antiques Road Trip

Two celebrities hit the road in classic cars for a tour through Great Britain. With antiques experts by their sides, they search the local stores for treasures, competing to see who can turn a £200 budget into a small fortune. Their adventures take them off the beaten path and allow them to learn about the little-known stories behind some of the greatest events in British history.

D.I. Ray

In this four-part drama, D.I. Rachita Ray, a British-Asian policewoman new to homicide, goes on a journey that sees her uncover a complex web of deceit within organized crime, while laying bare the wounds deep within herself that she's spent a lifetime ignoring.

Grantchester on Masterpiece

The quaint Cambridgeshire village of Grantchester is the setting for murder and mystery, but Detective Geordie Keating and his vicar partner are on the case, working to solve crimes. Watch all six episodes of the latest season—not to mention all previous seasons—whenever you wish.

Lessons from London

Power of the Pitch explores professional sports as a catalyst for social transformation, positive change, and development efforts in disinvested areas and neighborhoods. The special airs September 18 at 7 pm and on the PBS App after broadcast.

On the west side of downtown, Major League Soccer's newest team, St. Louis City SC, has invested hundreds of millions of private dollars into a new state-of-the-art stadium and practice facility. Many have said CityPark and the team have brought a new vibe and energy to Downtown West, an area that has been vacant for decades.

Without question, major league sports have a positive economic impact, but how can St. Louis's civic leaders, lawmakers, and residents expand the impact these investments have on the region, unlike in years past. What's at stake if we don't?

This summer, our producers traveled to London to ask tough questions about London Stadium in the East End, which was built to serve as the main venue of the 2012 Summer Olympics. It is currently the home field of the Premier League club, West Ham United. The site was chosen because of the potential for growth and development of the area around it. CityPark (and Busch Stadium, Enterprise Center, and the Dome at America's Center before it) has sparked a similar renaissance. But can the momentum be sustained and improved on?

Nine PBS's content team captured ideas, discussions, successes, and missteps of the development of London Stadium. A mission to London was organized by Greater St. Louis Inc. in June and included a delegation of St. Louis leaders and businesspeople.

You will hear from St. Louis broadcasters, former players, business leaders, city officials, and St. Louis Cardinal fans who traveled to London for Major League Baseball's St. Louis Cardinals vs. Chicago Cubs series at London Stadium. We also interviewed East End city planners, business owners, and residents in London as well as those who have been displaced or have not benefited from the progress.

Back-to-School with Reimagined Season

Nine PBS's award-winning kids' program has shifted gears to meet school readiness needs. The highly anticipated new season reflects Nine PBS's commitment to prepare kids for school and for life. With a brand new in-studio set, a permanent host, and field trips to treasured landmarks and essential health care providers, Teaching in Room 9 continues to transform the early childhood educational landscape.

Dr. Albert J. Sanders Jr. will serve as the host. An award-winning educator from Adams Elementary, Sanders brings a wealth of experience and a passion for early childhood education. Sanders will be a very familiar face to many viewers; he was one of the original teachers when the show debuted in April 2020 and is a fan favorite.

"We are thrilled to have Dr. Sanders join our team as the new permanent host of Teaching in Room 9," says Amy Shaw, president and CEO of Nine PBS. "His expertise and dedication to preparing children for school make him the perfect fit for this next chapter. We are confident that his energy and enthusiasm will inspire and engage young viewers."

The new, reimagined season is produced by award-winning producer Michael Francis. Francis had been a producer in Los Angeles for A&E, MTV, CBS, NBC, BET, TLC, Lifetime, PBS, and ESPN before returning to the Midwest. Francis shares his enthusiasm for the project saying, "I live by the motto 'be the person you needed when you were younger.' ....It was a joy to be able to use the creative arts to help educate the next generation."

The colorful and playful set is designed to stimulate children's imaginations and mirror a joyful preschool classroom. All lessons are aligned to Missouri and Illinois Departments of Early and Secondary Education (DESE) standards in reading, math, science, and social skills. There will be a focus on literacy in every episode.

Learning Beyond the Classroom Walls

Teaching in Room 9 will take learning beyond the classroom walls to explore our region's treasured landmarks and essential care providers. These field trips not only enhance educational content but also promote social-emotional development and critical preventative health care for children. This season also features segments with animal wildlife expert and rescuer Michael "Bare Hands" Beran who will bring along some furry and scaly special guests. Psychotherapist Candice E. Cox, founder of KHAOS Inc., will teach kids age-appropriate strategies for experiencing and managing their feelings.

Lesson segments will feature some of the region's best classroom teachers, including Kristen Forth from the Rockwood School District, Julia St. Louis from Rogers Elementary, Shamika Williams from Confluence Academies, Lauren Williams from Windsor Elementary, and Julia Knarr from Soulard School.

▶ The new 18-episode season premieres Monday, September 4, from 9:30–10 am, with new episodes airing each Monday and repeating through Friday.

Teaching in Room 9 is supported by Bank of America, Berges Family Foundation, Boeing, Dana Brown Charitable Trust, Emerson, Pershing Charitable Trust, and STEMpact.

The American Buffalo: A Film by Ken Burns

A new two-part, four-hour film directed by Ken Burns is the biography of an improbable, shaggy beast that has found itself at the center of many of the country's most mythic and heartbreaking tales. The series will take viewers on a journey through more than 10,000 years of North American history and across some of the continent's most iconic landscapes, tracing the mammal's evolution, its significance to the Great Plains and, most importantly, its relationship to the Indigenous People of North America. "It is a quintessentially American story," Burns says.

Sesame Street: Community Mural

Friends are painting a mural to celebrate the people in their neighborhood. When Abby has a hard time finding a paint color that is the same color of her fur, she learns to mix paint to make a color that looks just like her. Everyone works together to make the mural special, showing that we may be different on the outside but we're all friends and neighbors on Sesame Street.
