

On Sunday, Mom and I were shopping for plates at Walmart.

The cat jumped all over them. They were covered with cat hair. She accidentally got hair all over them.

We both tried to wash the plates but the cat hair did not get off. It was too sticky.

Mom wants green and yellow plates.

I want blue and orange plates.

We do not fight.

We buy two new plates. They are yellow and blue. They cost thirteen dollars.

We brought them home. Dad said "I love them".