Maple was in a snow storm that had so much snow she couldn't see where she was going. Then Maple found a nice little polar bear named Poly.

"Can I help you? You look cold," Polly offered.

"Sure. I can't make it through the storm on my own."

Polly puts Maple in a backpack and puts the backpack on her shoulders.

Maple and Polly traveled so far,
they stopped at a cave to rest.
The next morning, ice was melting off trees.

The new friends noticed flowers were blooming! Polly jumps over a fence and lands next to a big flower, and on that flower was a butterfly!

Next, they put Maple on Butterfly's back. Then, Polly headed back north.
Butterfly flew with Maple on her back to Summerland.

It was super hot there! Butterfly and Maple found a stray cat! But it depended she wanted to help. The kitten put Maple in a jar and said, "My name is Cativo." "Nice to meet you. My name is Maple! Can you help me get to the fall?" Sure. I can walk you there!"

Once they were there, they saw more colorful leaves. They finally found her friends! Then Maple started dancing.
