

The Snow Globe

By: Addison Vallely

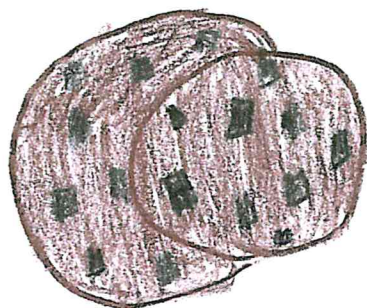

One day I was with my friends playing games and I saw an old rusty snow globe so I picked it up and started to look at it. Inside there was a big mountain that looked like Mt. Everest! As I was checking it out, it started to glow! When I touched it, it sucked me in!

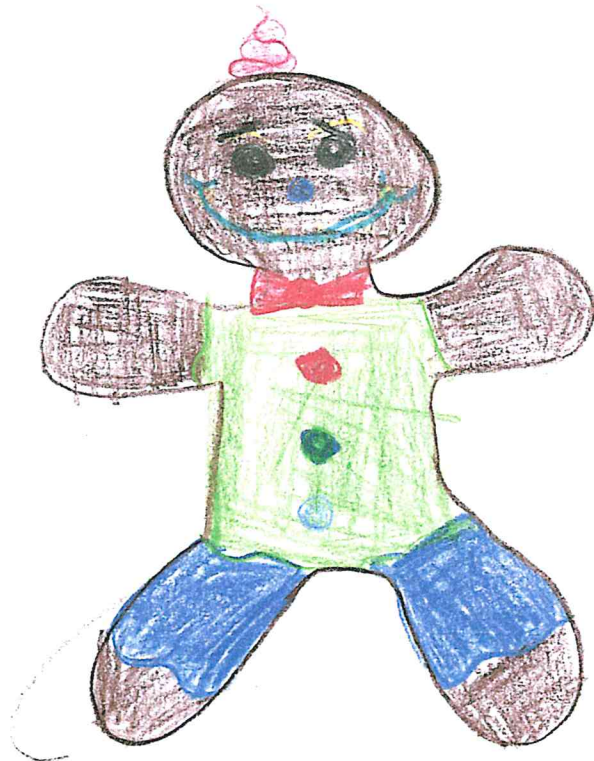

I saw a mountain standing right in front of me. I think it was Mt. Everest! Next to me I noticed a big snowflake with a giant red coat. Suddenly the snowflake smiled and said "hi my name is Shelby the Snowflake." I asked her "where are we?" "Mount Everest, we are heading up the mountain to go to the annual winter party," she replied. "That sounds amazing, I said! So, we headed up the mountain together.

On the way up the mountain Shelby and I saw little shops that were selling hot cocoa and fresh cookies. They smelled so good so we decided to buy some to eat on our way. They were delicious!

Finally, we made it to the top! Next, I realized that all the people were gingerbread people! Their houses were made of candy and it smelled so good! Suddenly someone appeared and I asked Shelby "who is that?" Shelby replied, "The Queen of Gingerbread Town." The Queen said very loud and clear, "Let's Party!"

We all sang and danced, had some hot cocoa, and went sledding. I kind of missed home, so I went to the queen and asked "how do I get home?" "You must go to the library and find the book called, Winter Wonderland." I quickly headed to the library and sitting right there was the book I was looking for! I started to read it but the book only had one sentence in it; it said you have to make a wish. I thought, I will make wish to go home! When I opened my eyes, I was back home! My friends were staring right at me! They said, "where were you" I said... "It's a long story!"
