

Amy was trained in the most pure ninja way with the three s's: Strength, Stealth and Smarts. Always be Strong, stay Stealth and use Smarts.

On her tenth birthday she received a new black ninja belt. Amy felt honored. That day her family decided that she was old enough to go on a solo mission, her first diamond heist. Amy happily agreed.

On the night of her mission, Amy's parents give her a map to an ancient pyramid where the diamond has been hidden for thousands of years. The first thing she had to do was walk a half a mile and then board a train.

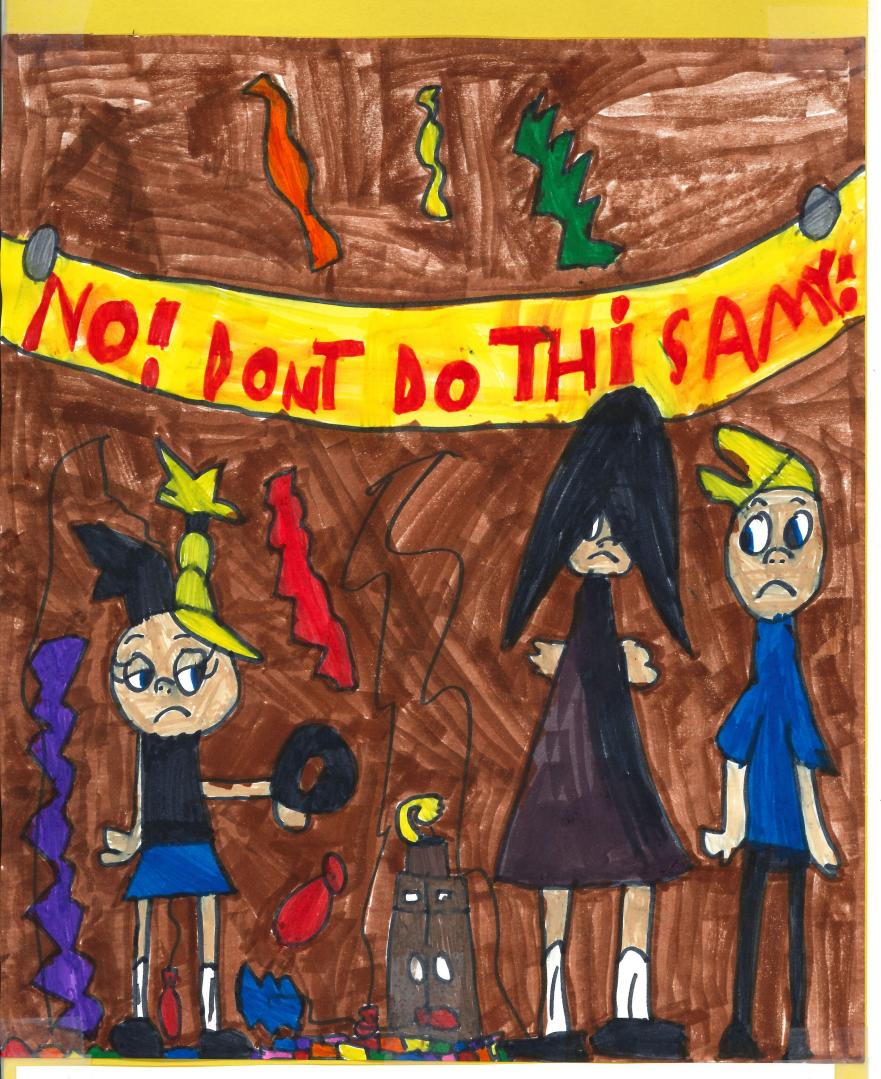

The pyramid started to sink into the floor and the walls around her began to collapse. Amy had to escape!

Amy made it out just in time. As she was celebrating on the train she noticed that the diamond was not in her pocket. "Oh no!" Amy sighed, "I must have dropped it on the way out." All she could think about now was how dissapointed her parents would be.

When she got home a confetti hurricane flew in her face and cheers filled her ears. "Congratulations Amy!!" her family exclaimed.

When she saw the all happy faces she hung her head down. "I have failed my first solo mission. I am not worthy of this." she said as she handed her belt to her Mother.

"It doesnt matter if you failed, we are still proud of you and you should be proud of yourself too." said Amy's parents. They all smiled and had a group hug.

That day Amy learned that even though she did not steal the diamond, she stole her family's heart instead.
