

A Day in the Life of My iPad

By Noah

Illustrated by Noah

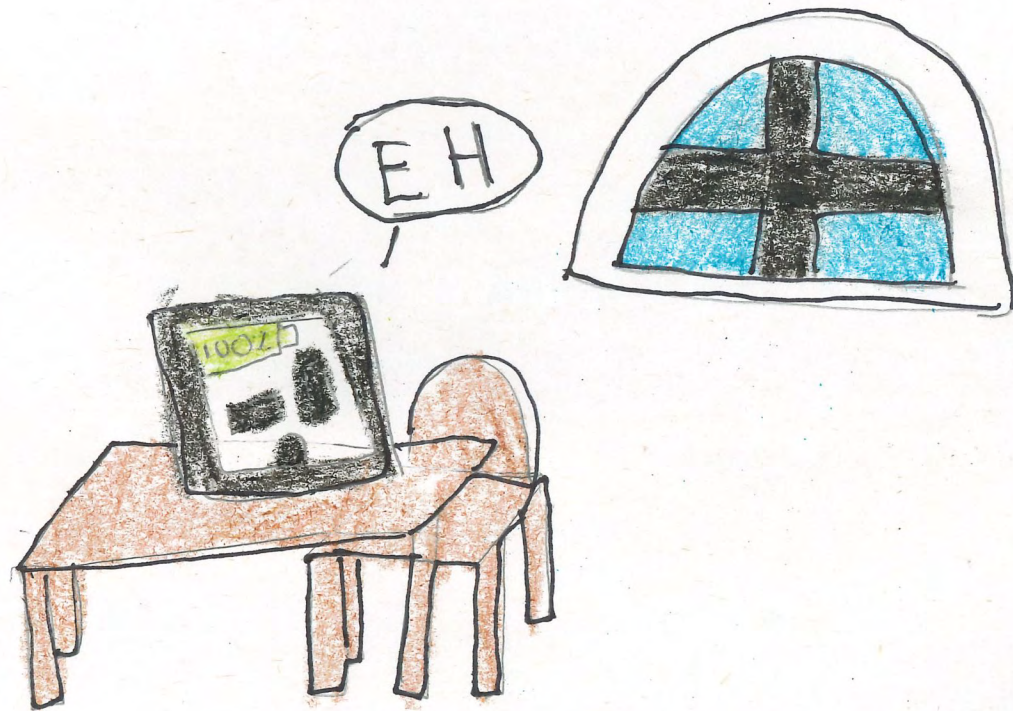

UH
OH

Morning

The iPad opens its big eyes when the sun comes up. In its cloud it thinks,

"Oh no... Noah will wake up soon."

It's the weekend, and the iPad is fully charged and ready for the day.

Soon Noah wakes up and grabs the iPad.
"Time for games!" Noah says.
The iPad is excited and ready to play.

Let the games begin!

SO many games.

SO many tabs open.

The iPad is running too much and starting to feel very tired.

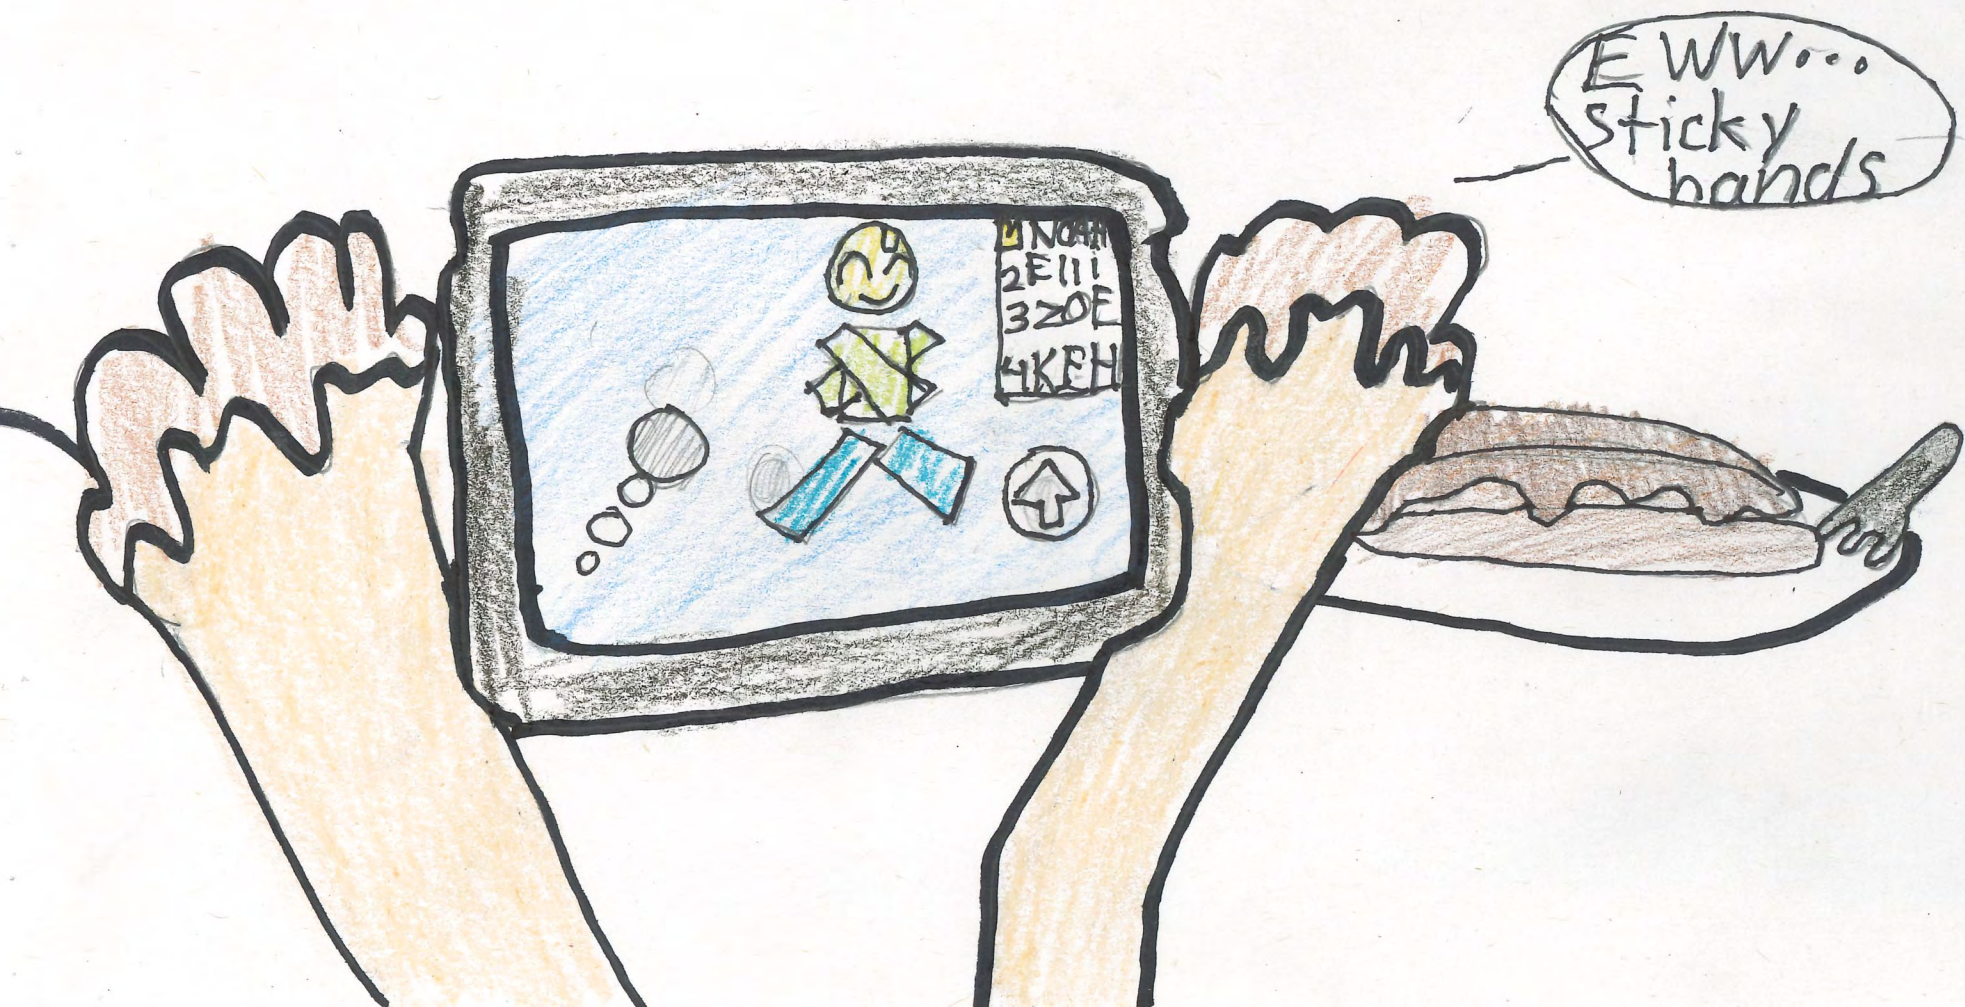

Break fast time:

Noah is playing games while eating.

Uh oh...

Now the iPad screen is sticky from syrup hands!

The iPad Looks like it does NOT want to be sticky.

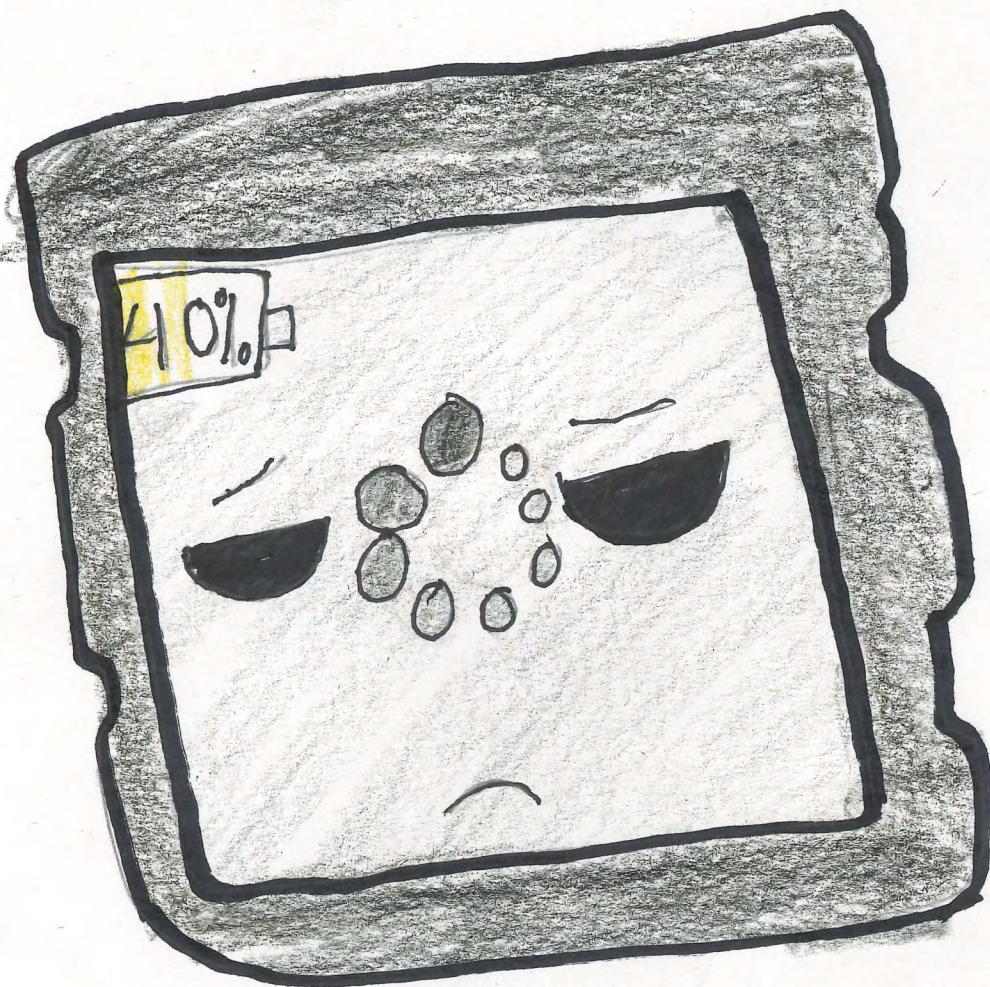

Now the iPad is moving very slow.

Noah says,

"Why are you so slow?"

The iPad wishes it could say,

"I'm trying!"

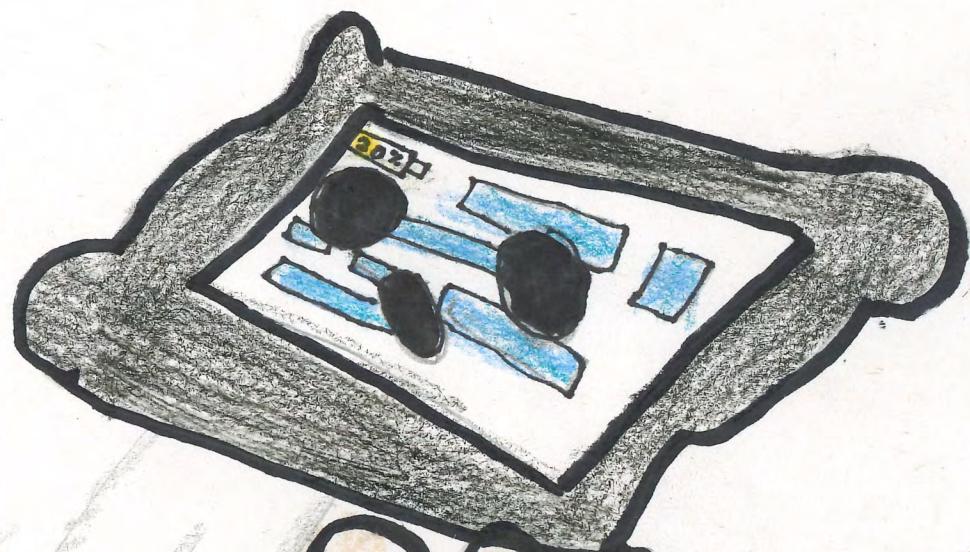

Noah loses the game.

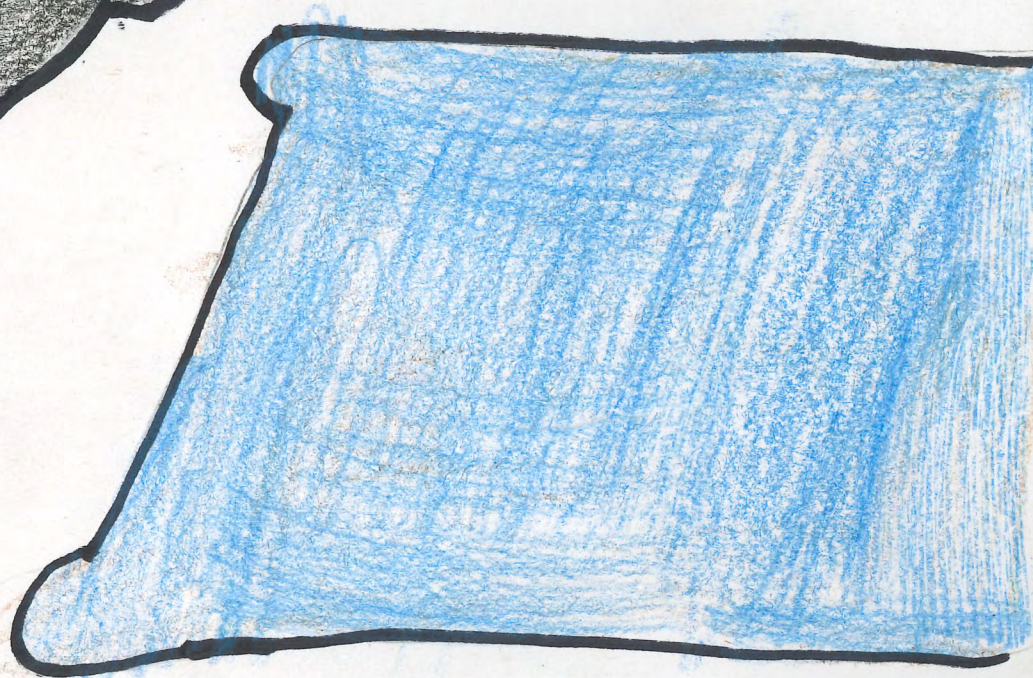

Whoosh!

The iPad gets thrown onto a pillow.

The iPad does NOT like that.

Hey I'm fragile!!

The battery is now at 10%.

The iPad feels happy.

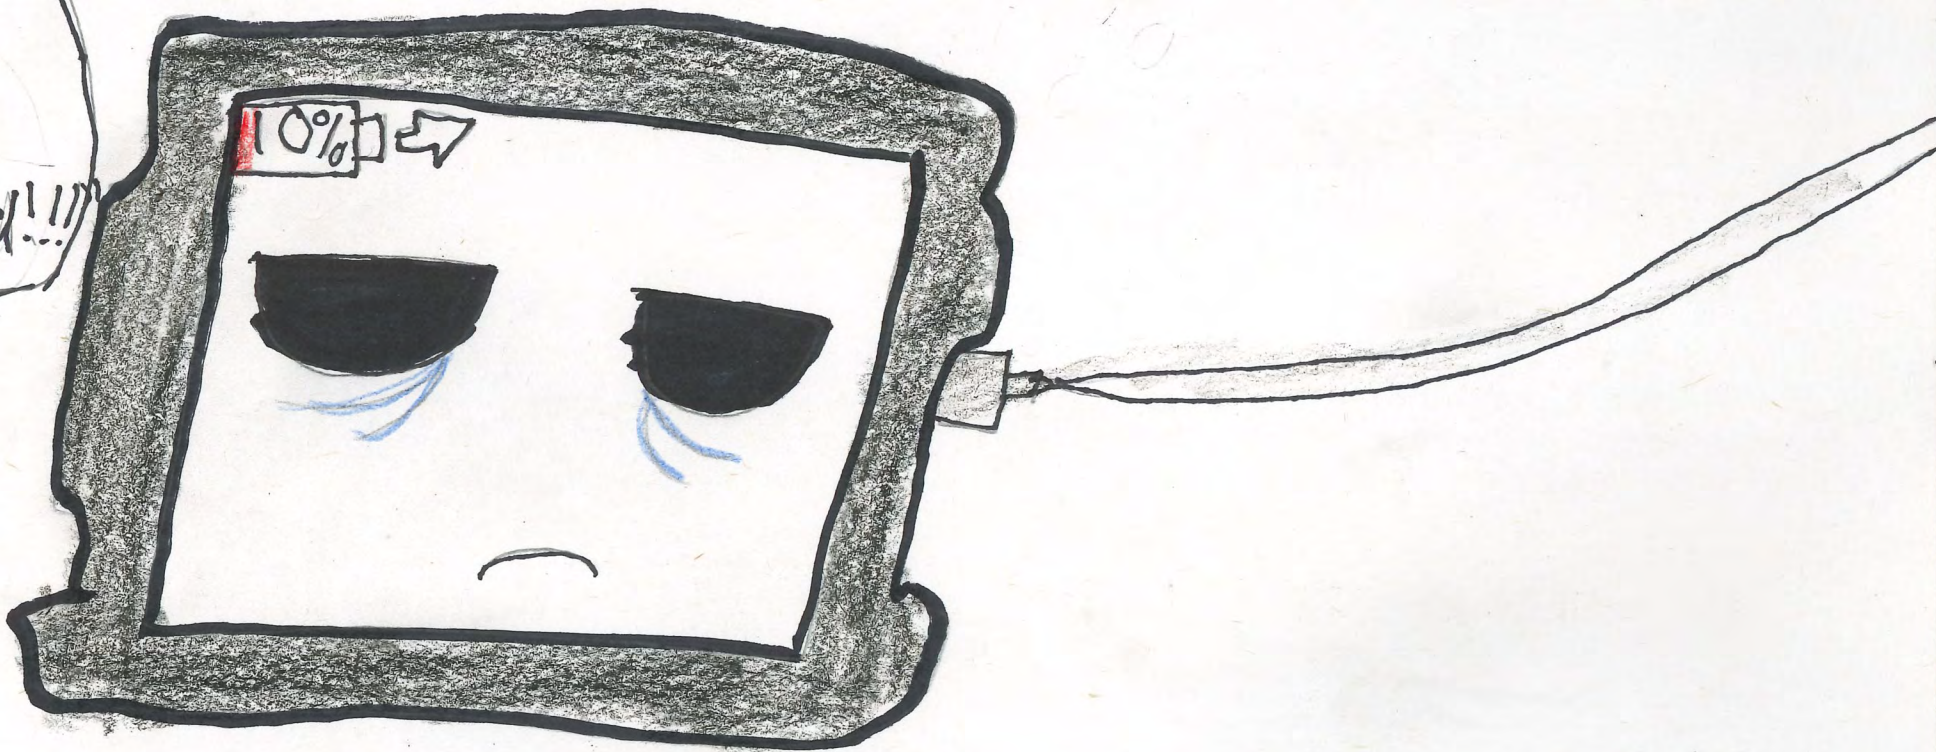

Finally... maybe it can sleep.

But wait!

Why is Noah charging it again?

"I've been awake all day!" the iPad thinks.

"More energy?!
I'm exhausted!!!"

Finally the iPad hears Noah getting ready for bed.
Yes!

Noah turns the iPad off.

Good night.

Zzzzzz

