

Dear Olivia Mey

"This is the worst day of my life!
I'm so tired I just wish this day could be over!" I complained, as I flopped down onto my bed. I was about to sleep, when something glittery caught my eye. On my pillow, there was a sparkly pink envelope, and it was my favorite color, pink. Written on it was my name with a heart around it. I slowly opened it up and found a letter inside. I was so curious and instantly started to read it.

"Dear Olivia Mey,

Hi! We've never met, but I know you very well!
I saw you had a bad day, so I left this here
to pep you up.

Early this morning, you were late for Robotics Club because you slept in. This made you feel disappointed that you missed some fun parts. Maybe next time, don't stay up watching videos late at night. Then, you will have enough time to sleep and you will wake up on time.

During Math, you failed your test, and that made you worried about your grade. That's okay because there are other chances to bring it up. Just try harder next time.

1. Lily has 5 stacks of candy. There are 10 candies in each stack. How many candies does she have? Explain.
She has 50 because $5 \times 10 = 50$. X

2. $6 \times 2 = ?$

3. Make a word problem with 6×10 .
Fiona has 10 bags. Each bag has 4 items in it. How many items are in all the bags? X

To make it even worse, you had a fight with your brother because of the iPad. You were broken-hearted because you said some rude things that you don't even mean. If you apologize and say sorry, I'm sure patching things up will make you feel better!

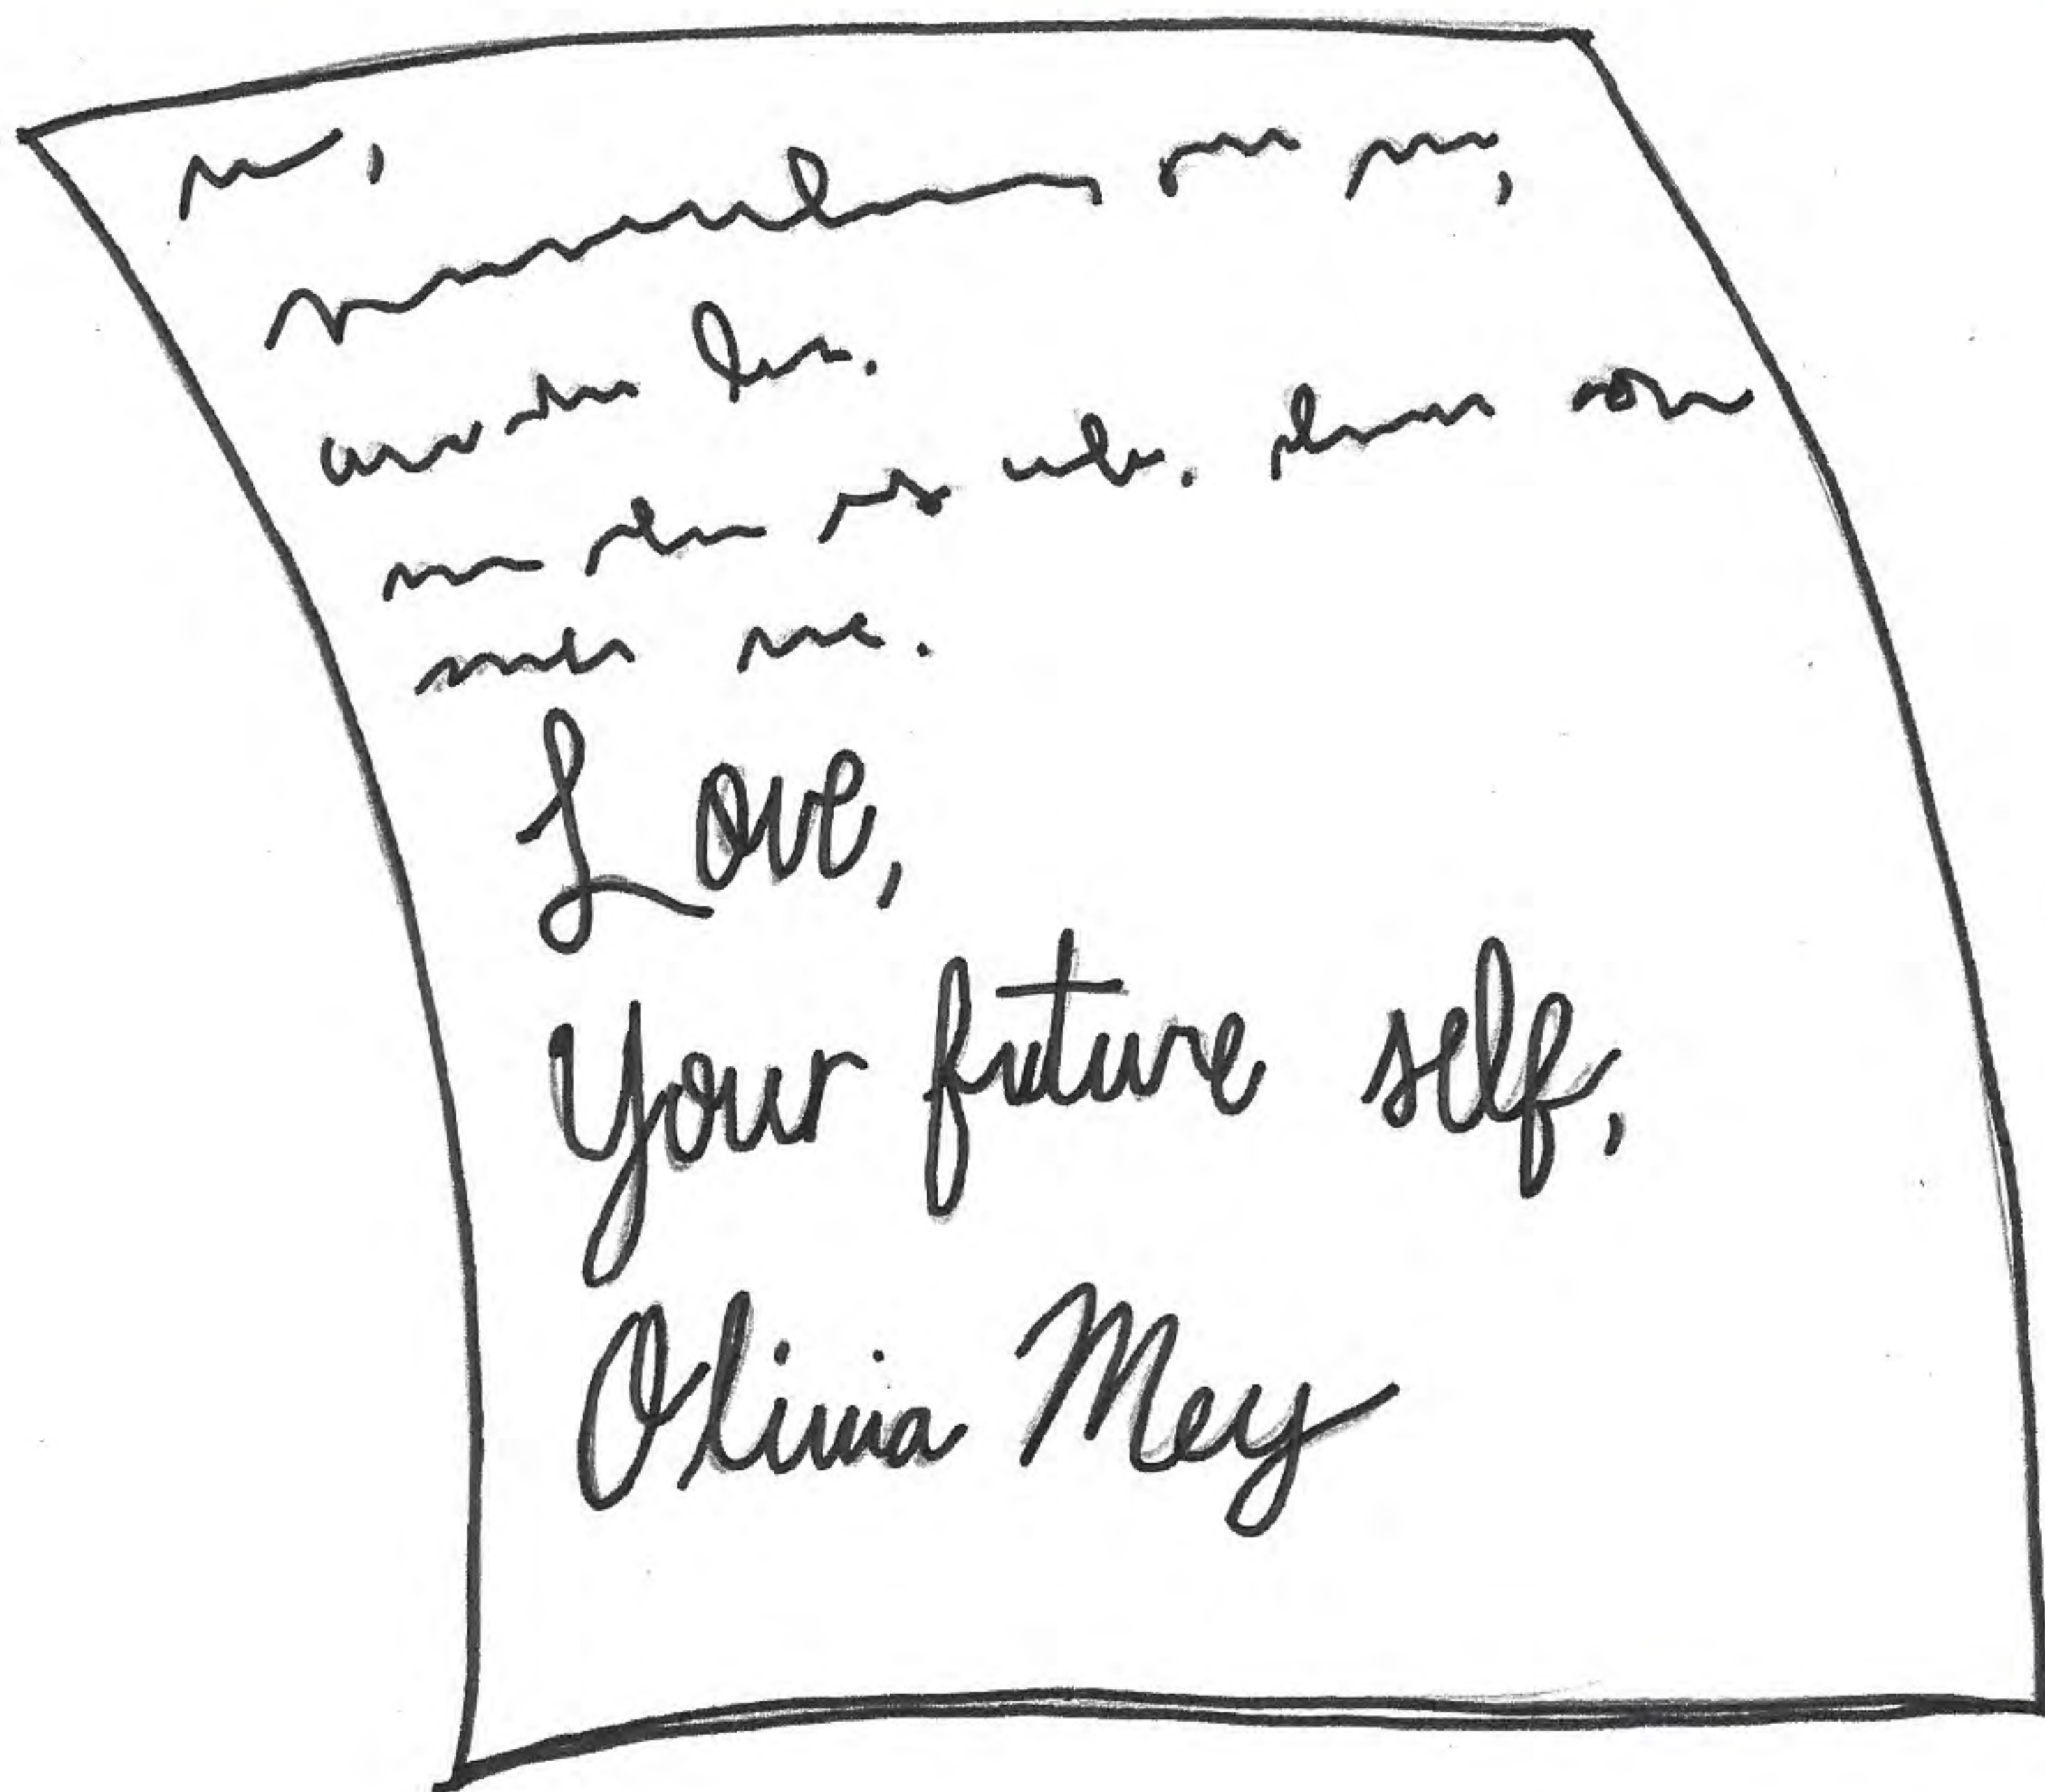

This day might not have happened the way you like, but things will get better! It's okay to make mistakes, but remember to always look at the bright side! Do your best and don't forget to smile!"

It was a very touching letter that made me feel warm inside, and I can't wait to find out who sent it to me!

Finally, I saw it. In a very fancy, cursive handwriting, it was signed,
"Love,
Your future self, Olivia Mey!" 😊

P.S. I can't wait for you to meet me, maybe in a few more years!
