

CITIZEN CENTRIC REPORT

MISSION STATEMENT

Guam Educational Telecommunications Corporation, also known as PBS Guam KGTF Channel 12, is committed to providing services using multimedia that educate, inspire, entertain, and express the cultural diversity and perspectives of the people of Guam and around the world.

VISION STATEMENT

To be a leader of positive change in the digital world, educating and connecting all ages while preserving Guam's culture and arts, that will help shape Micronesia's future.

PBS GUAM KEY SERVICES

PBS Guam is the only government-owned educational television station in Guam. Today, technology has provided numerous choices for people to be able to find, consume and share content. We pay attention to local consumer preferences and have taken steps to meet our viewers where they are, including a strategic move toward digital technology and in-person experiences. During a time when many of us are on the go, mobile technology is the norm for how we consume information. Sitting in front of a television to watch a program is no longer the first choice for many. We have made a significant shift to offering educational content for all ages across multi-platforms, increasing our reach not only island-wide but expanding coverage across Saipan, Rota, and Tinian.

MAKING A DIFFERENCE IN OUR COMMUNITY

Guam Educational Telecommunications Corporation, also known as PBS Guam KGTF Channel 12, uses community-based outreach as its way of providing educational resources and tools to our local community. PBS Guam participated in numerous community events like annual career day presentations at multiple elementary and high schools, the Educational Stabilization Fund Showcase at the Guam Premier Outlet, job fairs, island-wide clean-ups, holiday outreach events, annual visits to the pediatric ward of the Guam Memorial Hospital Authority, National Preparedness Day with the Guam Homeland Security, and many more.

CAPITAL ASSETS AND LONG-TERM OBLIGATIONS

In 2020 and 2021, PBS Guam was awarded over $3,000,000 in funding through the Guam State Clearing House under the U.S. Department of Education's Educational Stabilization Fund. In 2022, some of this funding was available as we began work on the Memorandum of Understanding. This infusion of funding for the production of educational content will allow PBS Guam to finally afford to allocate funds toward our planned station renovations that had been overdue for over a decade. We have continued to be able to make sustainable investments in our station's equipment for the production department and other capital improvement projects. The station has never been in a better cash and equipment position. We expect an expansion of local news programming, musical shows, and educational content on Guam and our culture very soon as planning for additional content is underway. PBS Guam has also used its equipment and platform to help the Government of Guam's transparency efforts by providing filming and broadcasting of its public meetings and board meetings to help them comply with the open government law.

ECONOMIC FACTORS & INSTITUTIONAL FACTORS

PBS Guam has always found its strength in its large number of dedicated, experienced professionals under its employment. Lately, as employees have retired or left, their positions have been difficult to fill, causing vacancies or unfunded positions, particularly in the production department. Although grant funding is available, we have had difficulty recruiting qualified candidates to fill temporary positions this year, causing undue strain on the existing staff. On a positive note, we increased our accounting staff by utilizing additional funds that we procured, which will help with our accountability and transparency in the future.

In 2022, PBS Guam was unable to secure meaningful national PBS programming underwriting, as is the case with our national PBS counterparts, the limitations of not being able to use "call to action" messaging have hampered the ability of the Development Department to obtain sustainable underwriters. Most of our fundraising efforts were focused not on traditional underwriting, but more on our signature fundraising events which have proved successful in obtaining underwriting sponsorships.

Most of the year was spent working on production and creative work to support new local content. Amongst the challenges, key positions were addressed by filling them with competent and qualified personnel, as well as the return of our sustaining beacon fundraising events, the outlook for the station is positive. I am confident that PBS Guam's mission to create new informative local programming is finally able to be realized. We will continue to capitalize on this administration's dedication to improving education in Guam and providing credible educational resources for our island's children, most especially the underserved.
