Carolina Meadows Believes in PBS North Carolina

Don Stedman shares why Carolina Meadows, his retirement community in Chapel Hill, supports our mission to educate, inform, entertain and inspire the people of North Carolina:

In 2002, 400 residents of Carolina Meadows formed its first fundraising partnership with PBS North Carolina. 21 years later, that number has grown to 850. Throughout the years, we've seen our public media station evolve and expand to serve a rapidly growing state.

Don Stedman of Carolina Meadows

Carolina Meadows residents like me donate to PBS North Carolina every year. Why? Because it has earned our trust.

We trust PBS NewsHour to keep us informed, Rick Steves to take us around the world, Vivian Howard and Sheri Castle to nourish our bodies, Willie Nelson to feed our souls, Rootle to educate the next generation and Dr. Henry Louis Gates Jr. to help us explore our roots.

PBS North Carolina is our lifeline in so many ways. During the pandemic, it was literally our lifeline, keeping us safe, informed and connected to one another.

Carolina Meadows supports PBS North Carolina to keep its programs and people in our lives. Our support also ensures they remain in the lives of those we love.

We grow together by supporting each other. Show your support of PBS North Carolina and the people it serves by becoming a sustainer today at pbsnc.org/donate.

THANK YOU, CAROLINA MEADOWS!

We appreciate your longtime support.

STAY TUNED ...

New Season of Reel South

Reel South returns this spring with a powerful new collection of documentaries that explore love of family and faith. The season kicks off with Stay Prayed Up, an up-close and personal portrait of the Branchettes, a gospel choir from Eastern North Carolina led by the irreplaceable Lena Mae Perry.
