A Family Celebrates Their Long History with PBS

Longtime member Alice Huff Hart goes down memory lane and shares special PBS moments with us:

PBS has been an important part of our lives since 1962. We watched our first Masterpiece Theatre, a production of King Henry VIII, on our first TV. Alistair Cooke became a hero—we rarely missed seeing him host Masterpiece.

Our viewing has evolved over the years. We experienced the full range of PBS programming when we became parents and then grandparents. Big Bird and other Sesame Street friends presented so many educational and joyful moments for our young grandson.

Our favorite programs are almost too numerous to mention. They include a wide range of interests, from mysteries, comedies and documentaries to antiques and music. We enjoy Saturday and Sunday evening programming, especially Masterpiece. Thank you, PBS!

SHARE YOUR STORY WITH US

As a loyal supporter of PBS North Carolina, you value the power of storytelling. The stories we share unite us. They entertain, inform and lend new perspectives.

Each of you has your own special memories about PBS North Carolina. We want to hear what PBS has meant to you and your family. Your story might inspire others to join our community of donors.

Please share your story at pbsnc.org/stories.
