"The North Pole"

by MacKenzi

My friends and I are heading to the North Pole to see Santa and his elves.

We are busy packing our bags with food, water, books, hats, jackets, gloves, snow pants, animals, and toys.

Upon our arrival, we froze into ice people and stuck in one place. The littlest elf was on a walk and with much surprise, saw us frozen.

He tried to help us by warming us up with a snowball. When that didn't work, he sat and thought "What do I do next?"

Then, he had an idea. He would call Santa to help!

Santa, with a surprised look, came to help. At once, he unfroze the visitors.

Once unfrozen, Santa invited us to sit by the fire to warm us up. He also gave us hot cocoa with snowflake marshmallows.

After we warmed up and drank our hot cocoa, Santa took us home on his sleigh.
