

Read Along

with Carl the Collector

Looking for fun and relaxing ways to spend a summer day? Check out these books and summer activities!

Wild Child by Dara McNulty

This book helps children explore their environment using all five senses. It dives into natural phenomena and has a series of activities to do together!

Start a Creature Collection

Combine Carl's love for collections and an exploration of the outdoors! Start a temporary small creature collection.

bit.ly/45ufeFl

Just Ask! by Sonia Sotomayor

Sonia draws from her own childhood experiences to create not only a sweet story, but a context in which to have conversations about differences with your students or children.

Bitsy Bat, School Star by Kaz Windness

Bitsy is ready for school and excited to make friends. When she gets there, she realizes that everyone else does things a little differently. Great for children starting school soon!

Make Appreciation Cards

Bitsy and Carl both take time to show appreciation to those around them. Make appreciation cards that you can mail to loved ones and friends!

bit.ly/4fdsZvn

A Day With No Words by Tiffany Hammond

Follow a day in the life of Aiden, an autistic boy who communicates without verbal speech with his mother.

WGUV
Public Media
Education

THE AUTISTIC REPRESENTATION DATABASE

Ready to find more books which feature autistic characters and authors? Check out the Autistic Representation Database, a fantastic resource for parents and teachers! bit.ly/4l7S21l

