Kate!

One day there was a little girl named Kate and she loved playing with Legos. Every day she built something and she said "I love it" after it was finished. One day, Kate was building a house and she suddenly ran out of pieces.

So she asked her mom what to do and her mom said "I will look on Facebook and see if anybody is selling pieces". Her mom didn't find any pieces on Facebook and she said "Don't worry I bet someone will post something on Facebook." "Okay", said Kate and she walked back into her bedroom. Kate couldn't stop thinking about how she couldn't finish her house. Kate realized she could build something else so she broke her house and started something new. She thought about what she could build - a school! So she got to work. An hour later she was done. It looked so cute. So she went into the kitchen and showed it to her mom. Her mom said "It looks so cute." Kate felt proud. She had always wanted to build a school. So she did and her mom loved it.

The next day was Show & Tell so Kate brought her school and she showed it to the class. They liked it.

When Kate got home there was a package on the front porch. She opened the front door and picked up the package and went inside. She opened the package and found a box of Legos.

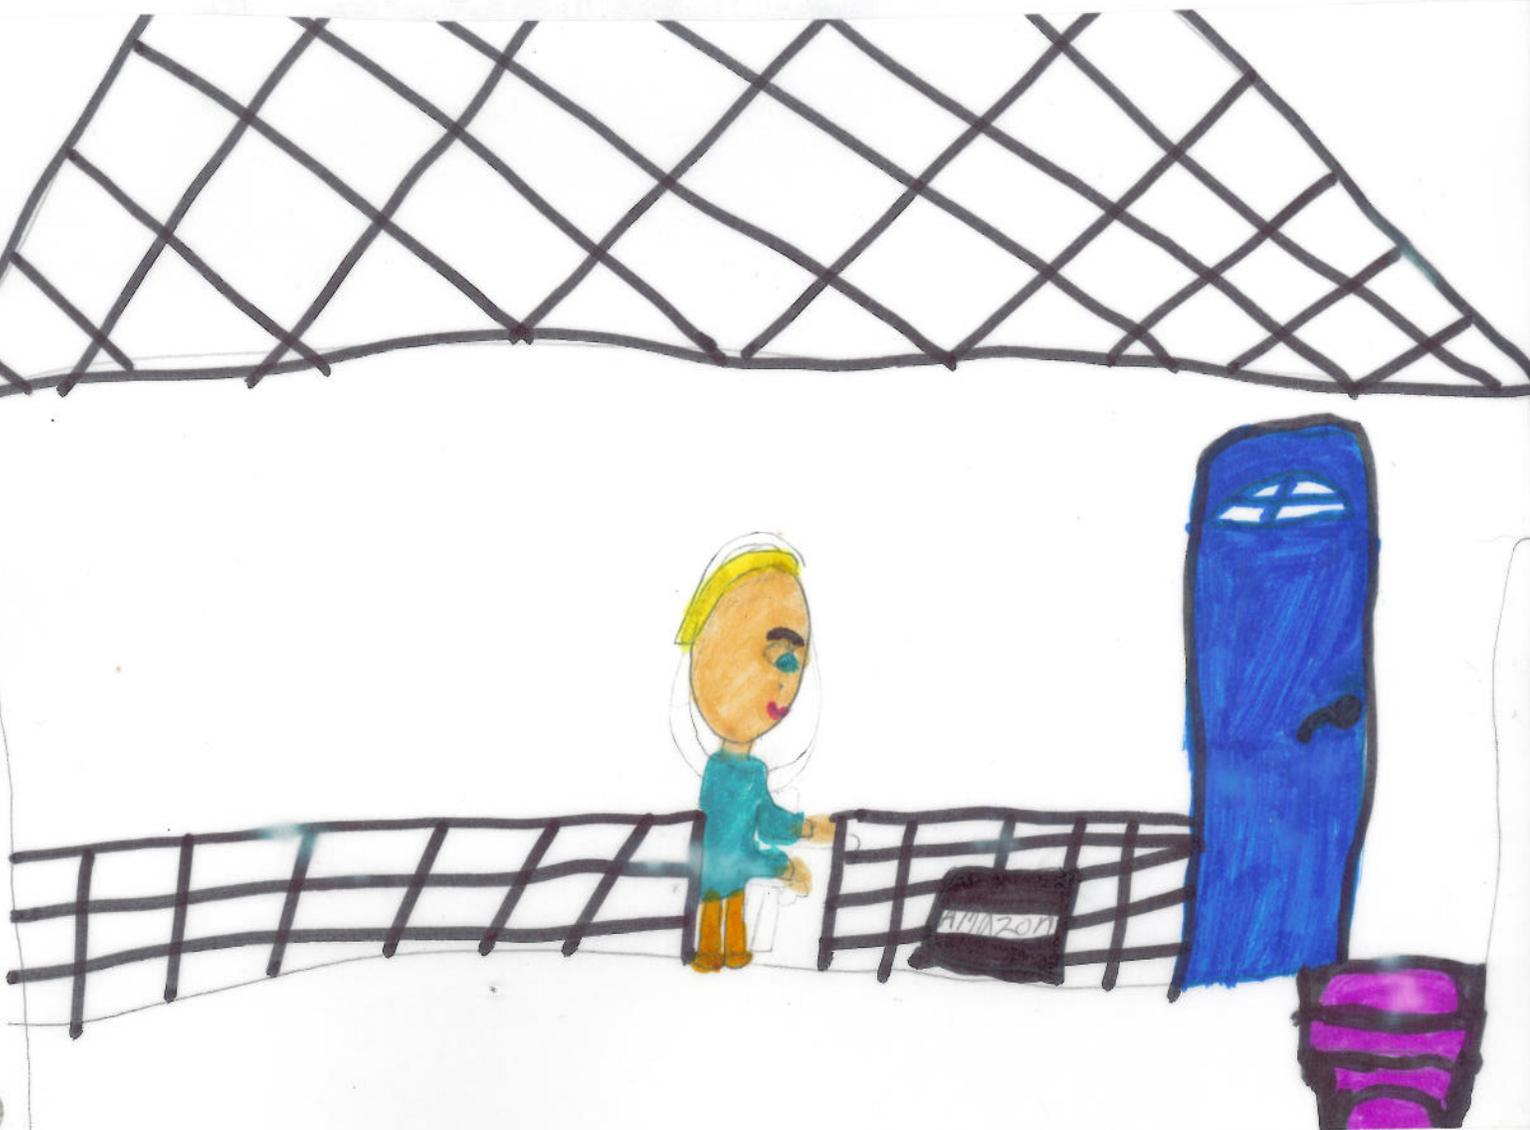

She said "Mommy did you buy this for me?"

Her mom said "Yes I did".

"Thanks mom! Can I go play?"

"After you practice guitar."

"Ok" said Kate. She went in to her room for her guitar.

Ten minutes later she was in her room playing Legos. She had already broken the school. She had the living room and the kitchen done. She had two bedrooms and two bathrooms and a dining room. left to go. When it was done she showed it to her mom her mom said "I love it!" and Kate loved it to.
