Strong Pig

By Yael

Once upon a time there was a pig and her name was Eliana. She loved going to the playground. One day when Eliana went to the playground, just as she was about to play, two girls came and said, "Why are you here? This is for big kids, not little kids."

Eliana ran home and put tomatoes in her shirtsleeves to look like big muscles. Then she went back to the park. "I am a big kid, so let me in like the other big kids!" Eliana said, and the two girls let her in.

Just as she was about to play, she saw a bunch of elephants and giraffes on the playground. She ran as fast as she could because she was scared. The older girls saw her running and said, "Are you scared? Ha, ha, ha!"

They stopped Eliana and took a close look at her. Just then, the tomatoes flew out of her short-sleeved shirt. Eliana said, "Please! I just want to play on the playground."

So, the two girls said, "It's okay. Don't be afraid of the other animals. They don't ever bother us."

"Okay... if they won't bother me, I'll go and play!" she said excitedly.

Some other littler kids were watching. They saw Eliana stand up for herself. They wanted to play, too! They ran onto the playground and everybody began to play together.
