WSRE  PBS

A Service of Pensacola State College

Ça c'est bon is a Cajun French phrase that means “that’s good” — a phrase you’ll be saying over and over as you sip and sample delicious cuisine prepared by local chefs and restaurants for this event.

We can also say “ça c'est bon” about our local public television station, WSRE PBS!

As a PBS station licensed to Pensacola State College, WSRE is focused on strengthening our community. WSRE helps kids prepare for school, keeps us informed, and entertains us with the absolute best in quality television and the performing arts.

Through local productions, the station plays a unique role in preserving and sharing the stories of our region — from history and culture to educational institutions, legislative initiatives, interesting people, and impactful organizations.

We thank you for joining us tonight in support of WSRE PBS. Enjoy the evening, and laissez les bons temps rouler!

He won the coveted James Beard Foundation Award for Best Chef: Southeast in 2006 and was inducted into the Foundation's Who's Who in 2014. His nine acclaimed restaurants (August, Domenica, Luke, Pizza Domenica, Shaya, Willa Jean, Eunice and Tavi) each celebrate the bounty and traditions of the region. His flagship restaurant, August, is a Gayot Top 40 Restaurant and a Wine Enthusiast Top 100 Restaurant, in addition to being nominated in 2012 and 2013 for the James Beard Outstanding Restaurant Award and in 2014 for the Outstanding Service Award.

Chef Besh is the author of four cookbooks: "My New Orleans" and "My Family Table," "Cooking From The Heart" and "Besh Big Easy." He hosted two national public television cooking shows based on his books, "Chef John Besh's New Orleans," which began airing in 2011, and "Chef John Besh's Family Table," which debuted in April 2013.
